Deny That Report Is Erroneous

Hoover Commission Task Force Insists Army Padded Its Budget Requests

WASHINGTON, April 14 —(AP)— Striking back at Army criticism, a Hoover commission task force defiantly insisted today that the Army had padded its original 1950 budget requests.

The subcommittee of the government reorganization group flatly denied that its report on the national military establishment contained ten "misstatements of fact," as alleged by Secretary of the Army Royall.

It said the army's comments disputing the task force findings actually "confirm the committee's report in every instance and in practically every detail."

For example, it said, it's report that the army had once "asked for funds to modernize 102 more tanks than it possessed" was absolutely true. The task force said the discrepancy wasn't noted until its own investigators pointed it out.

A Clerical Error

It said much the same thing about a clerical error which added $30,000,000 to another army budget figure.

The commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover based a series of recommendations for government changes partly on the reports of its task forces.

The task force on the military establishment handed in the results of its investigation in November. Royall followed up in March with a letter to Hoover asking that the "ten misstatements" be corrected.

The task force point-by-point rebuttal, along with Royall's letter, was made public today by Ferdinand Eberstadt, former member of the War Production board who headed the Hoover subcommittee.

Support Committee Finding

In a covering letter to Hoover, Eberstadt said the army comments in fact support the committee finding that "the army's budget requests, as originally submitted to the secretary of defense, were on a highly inflated basis which bore little apparent relation to the president's ceiling or to any strategic plan."

On almost every one of the ten points, the task force reply to the army opened with some such words as "The army does not challenge the facts as stated by the committee" and closed with: "There is no misstatement of fact in this matter by the committee."

Eberstadt's letter noted only "one or two small points where we are quite content to accept the army's views."

Differences of Opinion

Royall said the army did not question points in which there are "honest differences of opinion," adding: "In other instances, however, it is felt that the testimony of army representatives was not properly recorded or interpreted by the committee representative.

Attached to his letter were "ten misstatements of fact and the comments of the army with reference to each." He asked Hoover to correct its report on those ten points.

One of them concerned this task force statement: "The army's original budgetary requests for fiscal year 1950 included an item for tropical worsted uniforms at $129 apiece, enough for all the enlisted men in the army and then some!"

The army's response said the request was intended to include 450,000 air force personnel, and that the cost per uniform was thus $40.48—not $129. It noted that the request was tentative and was never submitted to the budget bureau.

In its reply, the task force said that as far as it was concerned the reference to the air force was "additional information" and noted: "The army's comment does not question the committee's report of the item of $108,290,859 for tropical worsted uniforms."

One of Three Koch Babies Died This A.M.

Weighed 2½ lbs. At Birth; Had Heart Ailment

One of the triplet sons born early Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Koch of Marshall as they were enroute to the Woodland hospital in Sedalia, died at 5:00 o'clock this morning at the hospital. The infant weighed two and one-half pounds at birth and died of a congenital heart ailment, a condition sometimes found in babies born prematurely.

The body was taken to the Sweeney funeral home in Marshall.

The first of the three babies was born at 2:15 o'clock the morning of April 12 near Marshall Junction as Mr. and Mrs. Koch, Mr. Koch's mother, Mrs. Rudolph Koch and Dr. E. C. Macey, osteopathic physician of Marshall were coming to Sedalia to the hospital. Within 12 minutes the other two babies were born.

Dr. Macey, who had been driving, delivered the babies while Mr. Koch took over the driving. Mr. Koch's father stayed at the home of his son with the other three children, Linda Faye, Wanda Jean and Chester Rudolph.

Other Two Doing Well

The new babies were taken to a room prepared for them aside from the nursery with incubators and resuscitation apparatus and have been watched constantly since their arrival. The condition of the other two babies is reported as satisfactory at the hospital.

Professional Men Interested

Wednesday afternoon five doctors, who were attending the Child Health conference in Kansas City flew to Sedalia to see the triplets for an interval in professional interest. They were Dr. E. C. Macey of Marshall, who delivered the triplets, Dr. Leo C. Wagner, professor of clinical pediatrics at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy and Surgery, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Robert Tomkins, of Kansas City, a premature childbirth specialist; Dr. Gus Salley, of Warsaw and Dr. H. C. McAnnally of Kansas City.

Oppose Versions of U. S. Indian Films

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14—(AP)—A couple of Choctaws and a Creek—all three members of the Oklahoma legislature—went on the warpath yesterday against the motion picture version of the American Indian.

"When modern movie makers tire of hoodlum picture-making for coddling the blood thirsty but unbrave masses who love cheap thrillers," said a resolution offered by the Indians in the legislature, "a change of scene portrays combat between white and Indian. It's a battle if the white man wins, a massacre if the Indian is victorious."

Remove Tonsils of Seven in One Family

MANHASSET, N. Y., April 14 —(AP)—The seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Backer, of Carle Place, went through a dis-assembly line at Manhasset Medical Center yesterday and wound up minus their tonsils.

The seven tonsillectomies were completed by two doctors in three hours. The children—Robert, 12; Audrey, 11; Jean, 9; Lester, 8; Dorothy, 6; Richard, 4, and Ronald, 3—all were eating ice cream three hours after the last operation as they rested in five beds and two cribs in the same room.

Educator Dies

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 14.—(AP) —A Lincoln Hyde, 83, retired professor of civil engineering at the University of Missouri here, died last night at a nursing home. Funeral services and burial will take place here tomorrow afternoon.

Large Black Cat Stuck Its Head In Salmon Can

ST. LOUIS, April 14 — (AP) —A large black cat stuck its head into a salmon can early this morning, couldn't get it out because of the sharp edges, and the tinny, resonant howls that ensued were enough to arouse the whole neighborhood.

In a frenzy, the canned cat climbed a tree and fellout—a suffering cat.

Police were called, but they couldn't get the can off, so they called the humane society. While the policemen held the cat, a humane society man pried the can free with a piece of wood.

The cat, a stray, was taken to the society shelter to recuperate, and there it had salmon for lunch.

Offer Jobs to California Hero Workers

Burial Rites For Child Victim Marked With Simplicity

CHULA VISTA, Calif., April 14 —(AP)—For Kathy Fiscus—"sweet sleep, a clear sky and our father's love."

The minister said they were hers forever.

Then the little girl, whose death in an abandoned well near her San Marino home saddened the world, was committed to her grave.

The burial rites here yesterday followed by a few hours the funeral services at Alhambra. Both were marked with simplicity and were attended by a few hundred mourners, including the family.

Three-year-old Kathy's body was brought up Sunday night from the 14-inch pipe into which she had fallen to a depth of 92 feet Friday. Volunteers worked desperately through 52 hours to reach the little victim.

Donations Pile Up

The San Marino Congregational minister, Rev. Bertrand A. Christ, who had baptized Kathy, read both services.

Meanwhile in Los Angeles, donations, offers of jobs and medical aid piled up today for the rescue workers.

One of the heroes, unemployed O. A. Kelly, has had an offer to work at the Howard Hughes Aircraft plant.

H. E. (Whitey) Blickensderfer has the promise of free surgical care for a hernia operation.

Bill Yancey and Bartram Herpel, who also spent long hours in the rescue shaft, received a contract for a cesspool at Duarte, near here. They admitted their firm hadn't been doing so well, but things are looking up for them.

Mercury Drops Ten Degrees in Few Hours

Following a light rainfall of .53 of an inch early this morning, weather conditions were quite different today from the pleasant spring day enjoyed Wednesday.

Temperatures dropped ten degrees today between 7:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m., the latter reading being recorded at 43 degrees.

A forceful wind whipped around Sedalians walking on the streets. The velocity force of between 35 and 40 miles per hour seemed to grow more powerful in the afternoon, thereby causing a great number of pedestrians to cling to their hats.

Governor Asks Good Friday Observance

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14— (AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith called on Missourians today to set aside part of tomorrow for Good Friday observances.

He urged them to "lay aside material things" for meditation and religious services.

Significance Of Passover Celebrations

Theme of Talk by Episcopal Rector To Club Members

The significance of Passover celebrations and interpretation of the symbolism in the Feast was the theme of a talk by the Rev. Warren L. Botkin, Calvary Episcopal church, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker delineated those portions of the feast whcih included: Matstsah, indicative of Judah's obedience to the command of using unleavened bread at the Passover celebrations; a roasted or hard boiled egg which is emblematic of the sacrifice brought on every day of the Passover week during the erection of the Temple in Jerusalem; a roasted shank-bone to memoralize the paschal lamb; Charoseth, once a condiment made by mixing scraped apples, blanched almonds, sprinkled with powdered cinnamon and then made into a paste with wine, used symbolically to remind the eater that his ancestors made bricks from clay when they were slaves in Egypt.

Reminder of Origin

Moror, horse-radish root, some of which is grated. The pungent taste of this bitter herb symbolizes the oppression of the Israelites at the hand of Pharaoh, Caesar, and in our own times to the perpetrators of pograms.

Other bitter herbs, such as wild lettuce, endive, garden endive, water cress, succory, greens and parsley, originally used to garnish a stated dinner, in the Passover celebration, it serves as a reminder today to the Jews that they are of oriental origin.

Salt water or vinegar, which are to make the bitter foods more palatable. This alludes to faith in the Divine Covenant and serves to point out that ridicule, intolerance and persecution make the faith of Judaism more comforting to its present heirs.

A goblet for wine for each person which is replenished for four special blessings in the course of the memorial feast.

A special goblet before a ceremonially vacant place at the table, a token of hospitality. Certain traditions ascribe this cup to a readiness to welcome the return of Elijah, others to the readiness to welcome the Messiah.

Kennie Miller Chairman

Kennie Miller was program chairman and introduced the speaker who is the new rector at Calvary Episcopal church.

Herbert Schrankler, vice president, presided during absence of President Bert Hathaway. He announced there would be a

Bill Aimed at Hospital Fires Is Introduced

Purpose to Prevent Great Loss of Life And Property

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14— (AP)—A bill aimed at preventing disastrous hospital fires in Missouri was introduced in the House of Representatives today.

Rep. Fred Ray Columbo (D) of St. Louis introduced the measure. He said he had the support of the State Hospital Association and the Missouri Medical Association.

His purpose, he said, is to prevent the possibility of great loss of life and property in hospital fires like the one in Effingham, Ill., recently.

Under his measure a seven member committee on hospital standards would be established. It would have broad powers to set and enforce safety standards in public and private hospitals. The director of the State Division of Health would be ex officio chairman of the committee.

Governor Would Name Six

The six other members would be appointed by the governor to three-year staggered terms. They would receive no pay but would be allowed their actual expenses. Members would have to include:

Two hospital administrators, two doctors, nurses, welfare or public health officials, one architect and one civic-minded citizen.

The act would take effect one year after passage and signing by the governor.

Three Years To Make Changes

But present hospitals would have three years to make changes necessary to meet the safety standards set up by the committee.

It would not apply to convalescent, nursing, shelter or boarding homes but only to hospitals where patients are treated on a 24-hour basis.

Hospitals would be required to pay a fee each year to operate. Institutions with less than 100 beds would pay $10 a year and larger hospitals would pay $25 a year.

Mid-April Snow In Some Areas

CHICAGO, April 14—(AP)—A mid-April snow, wind and rain storm dampened and chilled areas from the Central Rockies to Minnesota today.

The snow falls in some parts of the Central Rockies, Central Plains states, the Dakotas and Minnesota were accompanied by cold northerly winds. Some of the gales reached velocities of 40 miles per hour, the U. S. Weather Bureau said. Falls of more than one inch of snow were recorded at Denver and Cheyenne and Sheridan, Wyo. The mercury in the storm belt was around freezing.

The weather bureau reported a snow-shower in Grand Island, Nebraska, with thunder accompanying a heavy snowfall. Rain and sleet were mixed with snow at Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Thunderstorms were reported in eastern Kansas and parts of Missouri and Arkansas.

Fair and mild weather was reported from the lower Ohio Valley to the gulf states and in the far southwest. Yesterday's highest reading was 92 at Abilene, Texas.

Husband Would Not Let Her Mind Alone

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—(AP)—It was mental cruelty with a new twist in divorce court yesterday. The wife of a psychologist said he wouldn't let her mind alone, and was always analyzing her mental processes in front of friends.

Mrs. Brigitte Fitzpatrick obtained the divorce from Dr. William N. Fitzpatrick, who was a medical student when they were married in 1946 and turned to psychology as a hobby.

Businessmen Scramble to Cut Inventories, Get Out of Debt

By Charles Molony

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP) —Businessmen seem to be fairly scrambling to cut down on inventories and get out of debt.

Officials guessed today that the chief explanation for a record-breaking drop in business loans during the first week of April could be stated like this:

Scared of getting caught with large stocks of goods during a period of falling prices, many businessmen don't want to borrow to build up stocks. They are using proceeds from current sales to pay off old debts as fast as possible.

In any event, an unprecedented $277,000,000 plunge in business loans during the week ended April 6 climaxed a downslide that has been going on since Christmas.

Volume of Loans Dropped

Reports to the Federal Reserve board from banks in major cities across the country show the volume of commercial, industrial and agricultural loans outstanding has dropped $1,005,000,000 since last December 22.

Still, the total business loan volume in the week ended April 6 was $14,627,000,000, or $197,000,000 above the level at the same time a year ago.

Officials said it was apparent that businessmen are trying to avoid a repetition of a major event in the depression of the early 1930s: The building up of stocks of goods that couldn't be sold at the going price, the calling of loans and consequent forced sales at sacrifice prices.

"Confidence In Future"

Insofar as they prevent a recurrence of that, it's all to the good, as officials see it here. The danger would be a panicky, unreasonable halt in buying that would bring widespread factory closings, laying off of workers, and a consequent cut in consumer buying power.

But Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said there is every reason to have "confidence in the future," and that he had seen signs of a new upturn in business on recent trips to the midwest and to New England.

Snyder saw recent price adjustments, as meaning that "the purchasing power of the dollar has improved a little," and he said buying power is plentiful—"It is up to us now to attract that buying power into action."

'No More Policy Than Cat,' Senator Tells Party Members

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP) —A split among Senate Republicans over whether their party should launch an all-out attack on President Truman's legislative program came to the surface today.

On one side, Senator Malone of Nevada repeated to a reporter what he said he told a closed meeting of many GOP senators yesterday:

"I don't think the Republican party has any more policy than a cat. We're just following the Democrats and have been ever since I've been here. (Malone was elected in 1946.) I'd like to see the Republican party forget 'me too' and stand for something."

On the other side was Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee.

Taft confirmed that he told his colleagues at the meeting that the Republican party will put itself in an "indefensible" position with the voters if it fights enactment of all public welfare legislation.

"If you deny the Republican party's interest in the welfare of the low income people of this nation, there soon won't be any Republican party," he declared.

Taft's Views Applauded

Taft's views were warmly applauded by Senator Tobey (R-NH), one of a group of 14 classed by Senator Morse (R-Ore) as "liberals" who tried earlier in the year to replace the Ohioan as chairman of the policy committee.

"I could support him for president on the platform he laid down," Tobey said after the meeting.

Senator Bricker, Taft's Ohio colleague, had some different ideas about GOP policy.

"I think the Republican party ought to begin to look at the cost of government," Bricker declared. "It ought to represent that great segment of the American people who have saved some money, bought some property and are dependent on no one else to support them."

Bricker said he argued to his colleagues that this country can't stand a permanent spending budget of $42,000,000,000 a year.

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, April 14— (AP)—President Truman said today he wants Congress to continue the government's power to control time-payment buying.

The question was raised at Mr. Truman's news conference by a reporter who noted that so-called "regulation W" expires June 30. That is the regulation governing installment buying.

Some Congress members and business men have been urging an end to the controls. They argue that dropping them would mean a shot-in-the-arm to lagging sales of many controlled items.

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP) —A young woman government worker and a Russian engineer accused of conspiring to get U. S. defense secrets were ordered today to stand trial May 2.

Federal judge Alfred C. Coxe fixed the date after hearing a vigorous protest by the Russian, Valentin A. Gubitchev, that he has diplomatic immunity.

The government employe is Judith Coplon, 27, of the justice department. FBI agents arrested her and the Soviet engineer last month after trailing them on a zig-zag course through Manhattan streets.

By the Associated Press

The United States stood ready today to receive — and consider jointly with Britain and France — any proposal Russia might make for lifting the Berlin blockade and renewing four power talks on Germany.

The western terms, as reaffirmed yesterday by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, are simply that the Russians must lift the blockade unconditionally prior to resumption of four power discussions on Germany as a whole.

WASHINGTON, April 14— (AP)—President Truman indicated today he expects the government will run a billion dollars in the red on this year's operations.

In a news conference discussion, he said a special $600,000,000 appropriation he has asked for the Veterans Administration will increase this fiscal year's deficit by that amount.

That money was asked of Congress only last Monday. Prior to making it, Mr. Truman had estimated that government income in the present fiscal year — ending July 1 — would be $599,700,000 less than its spending.

Fuel Oil Tanks Up in Flames

MARYVILLE, Mo., April 14.— (AP)—Fuel oil tanks went up in flames today at the Shipp's Oil company and occupants of the nearby women's dormitory at Northwest Missouri State Teachers college were directed to leave the building as a precautionary measure.

For a time flames leaped higher than the three story dormitory.

Nearby residents said the fire followed a minor explosion heard about 9 a. m.

The St. Joseph fire department sent a chemical company to the scene. The firemen radioed back to St. Joseph that they could see the flames eight miles away.

The tanks, located at the end of West Seventh street in Maryville, are near two bulk storage tanks of the Kramer Oil company.

Firemen directed their efforts toward having those. Across the Wabash tracks to the west is the gas storage tank of the St. Joseph Power and Light company.

A strong south wind was blowing at the time.

Hen Lays Six Eggs In Twenty-four Hours

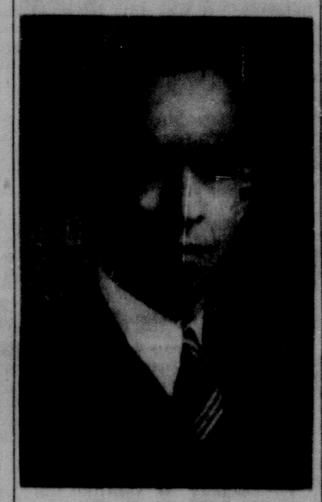
Claude Yankee Printer, Died This Morning

Member I. T. U. Over 50 Years; Ill Several Weeks

Claude Michael Yankee, 616 Wilkerson street, a printer for more than 50 years and employed at the Sedalia Democrat since 1908, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning at Bothwell hospital where he had been a patient since April 2.



Claude M. Yankee

Mr. Yankee was born July 31, 1883 in Green Ridge, a son of Michael and Eunice Elizabeth Yankee. He started to work at the Sedalia Printing company on April 22, 1898, under W. F. Waller and learned his trade under the late Ralph Manker, remaining with that company until June, 1907, when he went to Guthrie, Okla. He was employed there a year-and-a-half and returned to Sedalia in 1908 entering the employe of the Sedalia Democrat Company, where, with the exception of eighteen months when he was with The Capital then owned by John Swanger and C. M. Harrison, he was employed until his retirement on June 1, 1947. But even then he did not give up his work as a printer entirely. He promised that he would help out whenever he was needed and there was hardly a week that he wasn't called in on his old job at least one day and maybe two.

On June 30, 1909 he was married in Sedalia to Miss Bertha Dill, who survives him.

Mr. Yankee was a member of the First Christian church, Granite lodge, No. 272, A. F. & A. M., Pettis Chapter, Order of Eastern Star and the International Typographical Union, Sedalia local No. 206.

Preceding him in death were his parents and two brothers, Norman and Earl Yankee.

The body is at the McLaughlin funeral chapel.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Christian church with the Rev. L. Ward McCreary to officiate.

Music will be in charge of Mrs. H. O. Foraker.

The body will be taken to the family home Friday where it will remain until the funeral hour.

Shark Jumps up And Bites Bather

TAMPICO, Mex., April 14—(AP) —A shark, frightened from the sea by naval gunfire and depth charges, jumped up on Miramar Beach yesterday and bi' a bather.

Other bathers grabbed sticks and clubs and beat the shark to death before it could ge back to the water. The injured man was hospitalized.

Eight Die In Pacific Upheaval

Tremor Hit Cities From Vancouver to Salem, Ore., Area; Millions in Damage

By Gail Fowler

SEATTLE, April 14—(AP) —The Pacific northwest today counted eight deathe and damage which may reach $10,000,000 in the wake of its worst recorded earthquake.

Governor Arthur B. Langlie of Washington gave a "purely tentative" damage figure for yesterday's violent shock. He said the final count may range between $2,000,000 and $10,000,000.

This was based on reports to the governor from the Red Cross, the state patrol and other agencies.

The earthquake, at 11:55 a. m. PTS (1:55 p. m. CST) yesterday, caused scores of injuries.

Frightened thousands fled shaking buildings as the tremor hit cities ranging from Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., in the north to the Salem area of Oregon, in the south.

Scientists' Report

Scientists rated the quake of No. 8 intensity. No. 12 would mean total destruction.

The extent of the damage may not be known for days.

At least 75 buildings were partially or completely demolished in Seattle. Eight state buildings at Olympia, Washington's capital, were damaged.

A shower of bricks from cornices and building facings caused numerous injuries and damaged automobiles in the streets.

Chimneys toppled in many cities and towns. Plate glass shattered. Roads sagged and buckled. Automobiles were doing rhumbas in the streets.

The quake dumped two small, unoccupied houses on Fox island, near Tacoma, Wash., into Puget Sound.

Ready With Help

The Red Cross and state and federal agencies stood by today ready to plunge in with aid. A Red Cross official said today not a single person had applied in the Seattle area for aid for injuries, but that Red Cross funds would be forthcoming to rebuild homes damaged by the quake, on a basis of individual need.

John Calkins, Red Cross field director, augmented his headquarters at Olympia, where the need for housing was underscored by the evacuation of hotels and motels.

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie at Olympia, the state capital, said: "Everyone is going to have to pitch in and do what he can."

Olympia was especially hard hit. The old capitol building and the insurance building were the most severely damaged, and were ordered closed. Six other state buildings were shaken and cracked, but inspectors said they still were sound.

Two Dead In Olympia

Two of the quake dead were in Olympia. Falling chimney bricks killed Percival Bisson, a veneer plant steamfitter. Mrs. C. W. West died of a heart attack when the quake shook her hotel.

Langlie's assistants reported on the condition of several state buildings throughout the quake area. Two dormitory buildings of the boys training school at Chehalis, Wash., were damaged, and boys were moved into the new dormitories nearing completion. Two boys were hurt. Seventeen men in the old soldier's home at Retsil, near Bremerton, were moved after damage to their building.

Treated For Shock

Tacoma, 30 miles south of Seattle, reported "scores and scores" were treated for shock, bruises and other minor hurts. Many downtown buildings, including the Bankers Trust Bldg., were ordered evacuated. The Lowell school was roped off because its steeple had shifted.

The Holy Rosary church, probably the highest in Tacoma, was closed, as its cross was in imminent danger of collapsing.

Trains ran late between Seattle and Portland, by-passing the narrows route at Tacoma where quake-caused slides were not expected to be cleared until sometime today.

Some Closing on Good Friday

By the Associated Press

Major security and commodity exchanges throughout the United States and Canada will be closed Good Friday, April 15.

Banking institutions in most states will be open as usual, and various livestock markets will be open.

The New York stock and curb exchanges and the Chicago Board of Trade will operate as usual on Saturday, April 16. The New York cotton and the New Orleans cotton market will extend their holiday and remain closed Saturday, April 16.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

(Ed. Note — This is the second of Drew Pearson's series on the lobbyists who pull the wires backstage in Congress.)

WASHINGTON, April 14—One of the cleverest lobbies in Washington is the American Enterprise Association, financed by big business, which puts a nutshell analysis of all legislation on the desks of about 400 congressmen every morning. Obviously, there is no better way to influence legislation than by interpreting legislation to a harassed congressman who doesn't have time to study every bill for himself.

This lobby is supported by Robert Lund, past president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and by officials of Johns-Manville, Chemical Bank and Trust, Guaranty Trust, American Steel Foundries, Inland Steel, Chrysler, Bristol-Myers, Brown and Sharpe, United Car Fastener, and others. It also has the support of some congressmen, including "Goober Gene" Cox of Georgia, who claims credit for selling the idea to his Mercer university classmate, Eugene Stetson, head of the Guaranty Trust Co.

"It was all my idea," says the Georgia congressmen, who is one of the most reactiohary members of the House.

Others who helped inspire the association were Lew Brown, head of Johns-Manville, Baxter Jackson of Chemical Bank and Trust; Congressman Dan Reed of New York, Roy Woodruff of Michigan and the late J. Frederick Richardson, the first manager of the Washington office.

Lobby Moves Into Capitol

After the Republicans took over Congress in 1946, Congressman Dan Reed induced House GOP leaders to set up a coordinator's office, supposed to do research for members of Congress, and financed out of the public funds.

Lo and behold! Who do you think was moved into this key job? The representative of private business — J. Frederick Richardson. Hitherto, Richardson had been working on the outside as the representative of acknowledged business groups. But now, thanks to Congressman Reed he moved right inside the halls of Congress and was put on the government payroll. Furthermore, Richardson brought with him the same men who had been working for the American Enterprise Association.

Came last November's election, however, and the victorious Democrats moved this amazing lobby out. Thereupon it became necessary for the American Enterprise Association to get some nonpartisan political collaboration. They did this by making a deal with the law firm of Secretary of the Navy John Sullivan, a true and loyal Democrat. Sullivan's law firm was hired to analyze legislation and write the daily reports for congressmen.

Enter Navy Secretary's Law Firm

The secretary of the navy, sensitive about any connections with the lobby, is very emphatic that he is no longer with his law firm.

"Let's get one thing clear," he snapped, when queried. "I am no longer in the firm. My name is not on the stationery. My name is not on the door."

Sullivan admitted, however, that Malcolm Hardgrove, now the Washington representative of the lobby, had talked to him about various matters. Hardgrove is the man who gets information from ex-Speaker Joe Martin's office by occasionally slipping $20 to a Negro messenger, who plays close to the real estate lobby and admits that he interviews 20 to 30 congressmen a day.

"How well do you know Hardgrove?" the secretary of the navy was asked.

"I've seen him three or four times," he replied.

Later the same question was put to Hardgrove.

"John has been a close friend of mine for years," he said.

"But he says he has only seen you three or four times."

"Well, that's true," Hardgrove fumbled. "I've just seen him a couple of times."

"You mean you've been close friends for years and you've only seen him a couple of times?"

"I can see that we're not getting anywhere," Hardgrove blurted and hung up.

It may be significant, however, that when the secretary of the navy telephones Hardgrove's office, which he does from time to time, he does not ask for "Mr. Hardgrove," nor does he even use his first name "Malcolm." He asks for "Mal."

Other Democratic Support

It is also significant that Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee, a Democrat, says that he would not have endorsed the American Enterprise Association except for the Sullivan law firm's connection with it. Priest said that Hardgrove had used Sullivan's name in asking him to write a letter boosting the association. It was this letter of recommendation, plus those by two other Democrats, which started Democratic congressmen subscribing to the lobby's analytical service.

Another liberal Democrat who was euchred into endorsing the analytical service is Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, who explained that he had done so on the recommendation of Congressman Priest. He said, however, that he might send out another letter warning of the facts uncovered by this column.

Careful examination of the legislative analysis shows that the digests of laws themselves are fairly nonpartisan. But along with the digests are sent a series of carefully slanted questions which are asked each legislator.

Along with its digests and questions, the lobby sends out pamphlets on economic problems, but seems to confine itself to circulating only the views of big business. Propaganda by the Tax Foundation and the Foundation for Economic Education are featured in the association's office. Hardgrove, incidentally does some work on the side for the big-business-financed Foundation For Economic Education.

James O'Connor Roberts, who used to write the digests, claims they were impartial while he was doing them, but when Sinclair Weeks, former treasurer of the Republican national committee, took over the presidency, he quit.

"I was told I could no longer have control of the questions," said Roberts. "They were bound to become slanted as I saw it."

So he resigned. And that is the subtle system devised by certain big business frms to influence the men who write the laws for the rest of the nation.

House Passes Welfare Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—A bill earmarking $200,625,383 for state health and welfare operations was passed by the House Wednesday without a dissenting vote or any argument.

The Senate will take action next on the bill. It sets out money for old age pensions, direct relief, aid to dependent children and for other expenses of the department of health.

Funds are allotted for the two-year period beginning July 1.

For paying old age pensions $54,609,131 is set out. Aid to dependent children is set at $9,000,000 and direct relief also is $9,000,000.

A total of $3,750,000 is provided for administering the welfare program by the division of welfare.

Among other funds earmarked in the bill are:

$820,000 for the Missouri state cancer commission; $2,321,000 for the state sanitorium at Mount Vernon; $2,770,000 for blind pensioners; $50,000 for the federal soldiers' home and $54,344 for the confederate soldiers' home.

"—NO MORE UPSET STOMACH"

Do you suffer heartburn after meals?...feel logy? ...uncomfortable? Then read this heartening letter from a woman who found her way to better digestion and better health:

"Before switching to POSTUM, I suffered both indigestion and nervousness... But now my nerves are quieted and my digestion much improved. No more upset stomach after drinking POSTUM!"

SCIENTIFIC FACTS: Both coffee and tea contain caffein, and caffein is a drug which in many persons tends to produce harmful stomach acidity, as well as nervousness and sleepless nights. So while many people can drink coffee or tea without ill-effect, others can't—and this may mean YOU!

MAKE THIS TEST: Give up coffee—give up tea—drink POSTUM exclusively for 30 days—and judge by results! Remember: POSTUM contains no caffein or other drug—nothing that can possibly cause indigestion, nervousness, sleeplessness! Ask your grocer today for INSTANT POSTUM—A Vigorous Drink made from Healthful Wheat and Bran. A Product of General Foods.

The Helen G. Steele Music club held its annual business meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Heard Memorial Club House. Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president, presiding.

Reports of the officers, committe chairman and department chairman were given and five delegates were chosen to represent the club at the state convention that will be held here, April 26-29. The five delegates chosen are: Mrs. W. B. Rissler, Mrs. J. W. Watts, Mrs. Robert Overstreet, Mrs. A. B. Potts, and Mrs. Ralph Salmon. Others officers elected are: Mrs. Percy Metcalf, second vice-president; Mrs. Harold Yunker, treasurer; Mrs. George H. Miller, historian; and Mrs. Fred Handley, librarian.

The general chairman of the state convention is Mrs. D. P. Dyer, and the program is under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. D. Demand and Mrs. Henry C. Salveter. Mrs. E. A. Duensing, a former Sedalian, is state president of the federation.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Eickhoff, 708 West Fifth street, entertained with a line party to the Uptown theatre Sunday afternoon in honor of the tenth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Margaret Kathryn.

Popcorn was enjoyed at the show and afterwards the young guests returned to the Eickhoff home where they were served refreshments. The table decorations and birthday cake were in keeping with Easter in both colors and design.

Guests were Sandra McLaughlin, "Pinky" McLaughlin, Rosemary Rissler, Jenifer and Sue Catherine Ward, Gail Williams, Mary Keith, Kay Satterwhite, "Ginger" Stafford, Kay Caraway, Jacqueline and Charlene Wilson, Doris Shoe, Deanna Sue Lyles, Dixie Bryan, Susan Schein, Lynn Shirley, Carolyn Abney, Marilyn and Carolyn Kelly, Dianne Junge and Margaret Kathryn.

Mrs. Eickhoff was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Effie L. Piatt and by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. T. J. Cannon, Jr., of Marshall.

Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams, 644 East Tenth street, who attends Central college, in Fayette, will arrive home Saturday for the Easter holidays. Miss Willianms returned April 9, from a week's trip through various southern states, with a group of students from the biology class at the college.

The group left Friday morning, April 1, from the Science building and traveled by cars to see a great variety of things of biological, geological and historical interest, they had been studying.

Mrs. R. G. O'Maley and children, Garth, Pitkin and Georgette, of Mission, Kas., will arrive Friday evening to spend the Easter holidays with Mrs. O'Malley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Trader, Meadowood Farm. They will be joined Tuesday by their husband and father, Lieut. O'Maley, USN.

Mr. and Mrs. Dare Whitaker and children, Anne and Julianne, of Cape Girardeau, will be Easter guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kroencke and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Whitaker.

To Have Apartment Over Church Bldg.

Mrs. Fannie P. Jones, who was issued a building permit March 4 to construct a 30 by 40 foot one story church, said she intends to erect a church to be called Church of Nazarene at 1105 West Ninth street.

This future church, Mrs. Jones said, will be built so as an apartment will be situated overhead, and later Mrs. Jones said she intends to build a larger church on the corner of Ninth street and Park avenue.

Attending C. of C. State Meeting in St. Louis

John F. Zander, 1608 West Liberty Park boulevard, secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and Paul C. Maxwell, 212½ West Third street, are in St. Louis today, where this evening they will attend the banquet of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce which will be held at Hotel Jefferson.

Philharmonic Choir From Kas. Coming

In continuing the tours which have brought a well earned reputation for fine choral singing, the Kansas Wesleyan University Philharmonic choir, scheduled to sing in this city on April 22, at the First M. E. church is making its tenth major tour so that music lovers of the middle west may enjoy fine choral music.

Phyllis Poland of Chapman, Kansas. Miss Poland sings soprano in the Philharmonic Choir being sponsored by the Lions club Friday, April 22.

During the four years of the war the Philharmonic Choir discontinued its annual tours since all of the men were serving in the armed forces. Now, with a return of these men and additional youth graduated from high school the choir sings with greater musicianship than ever before.

Devotees of choral music in this area will hear the eight-part arrangements of Brahms and Bach motets and chorales. There will be other favorites on the program, such as the choir's own arrangement of hymns including "Rock of Ages" and of folk songs such as "Old Black Joe."

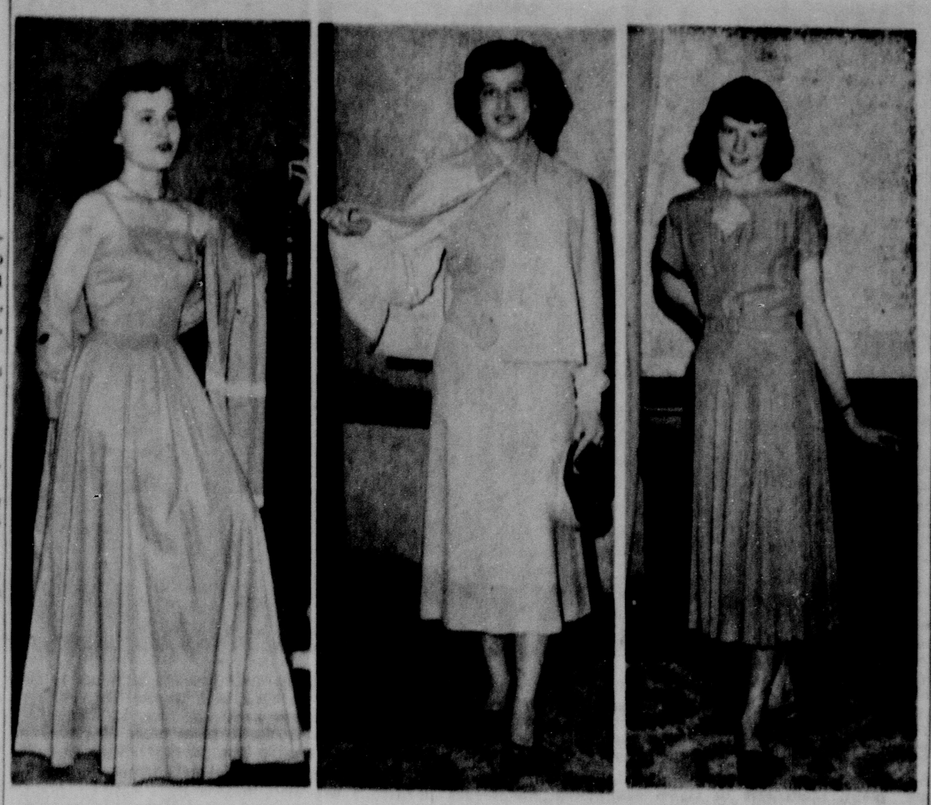
More Pay For Teachers

FULTON, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Fulton school teachers will find bigger pay checks next fall.

A blanket increase of $200 a year has been voted by the board of education. The hike was made possible by an increase in the tax levy approved April 5.

Fashions For The Teen-Age Misses



Fashions for the busy modern miss were modeled at the Smith-Cotton high school this afternoon. Three high school girls are shown in easy-to-make clothes. They are left: Yvonne Bohon in a dress for the prom, a grey formal made of cotton with silver metalic threat woven in the cloth. The stole has a silver thread fringe and may also be worn over head to keep hair in place. Center: May Ann Johnson, yellow cape suit. The weskit (a woman's vest) is a coordinated grey and yellow tweed. A yellow blouse is worn under the weskit and has tucks down center front. Grey felt hat and purse (matching) can also be made. This is one of the job-hunting outfits. Right: Carolee Johnson, in a grey rayon shantung basic dress with yellow scarf which neatly tucks under the keyhole neckline. The basic dress can be made into a date dress by adding a separate peplum or a suit by adding matching bolero. (Photo by Glen McVey)

Fashions for the busy modern miss were modeled at Smith-Cotton high school at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon by Smith-Cotton high school girls with Miss Dorothy Stroud, of New York, as commentator.

Miss Stroud brought with her a wardrobe of attractive, practical clothes that the young seamstress will find easy to make herself and answered the many questions girls want to know about fabrics, colors and also about good grooming.

A girl need not have too many clothes, in fact, it is better that she have only a few of good material, Miss Stroud pointed out, and she can give her outfit on entirely different look with varied accessories. The accessories may also be made, Miss Stroud said, there are clever little hats, some of which may be opened out and washed and ironed. There are gloves of all kinds, tailored looking to very fancy, there are scarfs and blouses and many things that change the whole effect of dress or suit.

The Models

Mrs. Olive Stewart is the Home Economics teacher at Smith-Cotton high school.

Various Types of Dresses

The girls modeled a few suits and coats but dresses predominated. They ranged from sun dresses, which might be worn strapless ro tied around the neck, combinatione of dirndl skirts and peasant blouses, bolero, date dresses, afternoon dresses, dresses for school or pobs and the formals of washable materials. Particularly striking was a washable grey cotton formal with a luminous silver thread that had the appearance of a silk. The fashion show was an inspiration to girls to learn the art of making their own clothes.

Hubbard Hi Models

A similar wardrobe of clothes was modeled on Tuesday morning at the Hubbard high school by Betty Counce, Juanita Bass, Lolita Carter, Rosemary Arnold, Barbara President, Ernestine Burris, Dorothene Williams, Marletta Cox, Helen Snodgrass, Edrie Gantt, Romona Smith, Christine Russell, Catherine Pappon, Maxine Smalley, Elizabeth Jean Johnson, Delores Stewart, Alice Perkins and Marian Black.

Miss Catheryn Ferguson is the clothing teacher at the Hubbard school.

Mrs. Vanek Weds Joseph Esser, Jr.

Mrs. Alpha Vanek and Joseph Esser, Jr., of Blackwater were married in Marshall, at 11:00 o'clock Thursday morning, April 7. They were accompanied to Marshall by Mr. and Mrs. John Chain and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Esser, who witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a yellow and gray ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Chain wore dusty rose with brown accessories, and Mrs. Frank Esser wore navy with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations.

On Sunday the couple were guests of honor at a family dinner given at the home of Mrs. H. L. Day. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Corless and daughter, Miss Joan, and guest, Forest Barnes, all of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Day of Sedalia, Mrs. Novella Esser and daughter, Miss Elma Esser, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Esser and son, Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Shifflet and daughter, Donna Sue, and Mr. and Mrs. John Chain.

The couple is at home on their farm near Blackwater, known as the Esser homestead. The residence has recently been remodeled.

Church Events

The Loyal class of the Epworth Methodist church will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Marshall, 523 East Thirteenth street, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. A. Green's circle of the Methodist church, Broadway and Engineer streets, met April 12 in the home of Mrs. Wilbur Garrett, 1415 South Moniteau avenue with Mrs. A. L. Pringle as assisting hostess. There were 17 members and eleven visitors.

This was the Easter meeting and Mrs. Elmer Coulter read the 27th Chapter of Matthew. There was a prayer by Mrs. A. F. Shore. The devotionals were given by Mrs. A. L. Pringle on "Gardens." Each were given newspapers, pins and an ornament, making hats from them. They were voted on with Mrs. Lottie Wohlbeck receiving the most votes for the most attractive hat. Twenty-four cards were signed to be sent to the ill and shut ins.

Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned until the May meeting.

To Take Instruction In Court Marshals

Staff Sgt. John R. Stacy, local army recruiter will leave Tuesday, April 19 to attend three days of instruction in court martials at Jefferson City.

The army regulations now allow enlisted men in the first three pay grades to sit in on court martial hearings. Wednesday, Recruiter Stacy took four recruits to Jefferson City for physical examinations for the U. S. Army.

State Worker Here

Mrs. Eva Moen, of the State Division of Rehabilitation, was at the local Welfare office Thursday taking interviews of persons who are temporarily physically handicapped for employment.

Through this department many persons can be given services that will enable them to return to their jobs.

If Alaska becomes the 49th state in the union, it will also be the largest.

Tears in Eyes of Statue When Kissed by Child, it is Reported

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 14—(AP)—Hundreds came last night to watch an 11-year-old girl kiss the forehead of a broken religious statue saved from a trash can.

Many, including a Roman Catholic priest, said tears appeared in the eyes of the plaster image of St. Ann after Shirley Anne Martin had pressed her lips to it.

It happened time after time, they said.

Some visitors kissed the severed head but nothing happened, witnesses reported.

The Rev. Francis J. Furfaro of our Lady of Pompei church said he had "watched the little girl kiss the head and it began to weep."

"I can only say," he added, "that it is a wonderful, extraordinary occurrence."

Other Priests Statements

Two other priests from that church, Father Furfaro said, also had seen what they described as tears in the painted eyes of the three-inch plaster head after it had been kissed by the Martin girl.

Bishop Walter A. Foery of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Syracuse could not be reached for comment.

Shirley Anne, the oldest of a Syracuse milkman's four children, attends public school. They are Catholics.

The child was reported near exhaustion last night after demonstrating the phenomenon for several hours. St. Ann was the mother of the Virgin Mary, the Mother of Christ.

Meanwhile, John McMahon, Dean of the State College of Ceramics at Alfred university, Alfred, N. Y., told newsmen by telephone that from a scientific standpoint the occurrence of tears "doesn't seem probably."

Open Home To Visitors

McMahon, a Catholic, said that plaster of paris absorbs water readily but does not release it except through evaporation.

Detective James McDonald estimated that 500 persons were in or around the Martins' second-floor, eastside flat last night. The Martins planned to open their home to visitors again today. Mrs. Arthur E. Martin, mother of Shirley Anne, said the statue was one of two given the children by her mother-in-law. It fell April 2 and broke into several pieces, Mrs. Martin recalled. She said that she put the pieces in a trash can and that her daughter found the head section in the driveway later in the day.

Is Moscow Aiming at Peace Parley Over Germany?

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The total eclipse of the moon Tuesday night — a phenomenon occurring once in a century — encourages us to examine, without undue skepticism, reports that Moscow has been putting out feelers about possible negotiations of the Berlin imbroglio with the western powers.

Developments entitle us to ask whether Russia may have reached the conclusion that her great offensive for the spread of Communism across Europe has come up against an impassable barrier. The time may have arrived for her to pause to consolidate her gains and bring up her communications.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday that if the Soviets want to talk about lifting the Berlin blockade and starting four-power talks on Germany, the way is open for them to do it.

May be New Move

As far back as March 30 Eddie Gilmore, AP chief of bureau in Moscow, reported that "some diplomats not directly involved in the four-power dispute over Berlin speculated today there may be a new move to settle that issue." Since then there has been much other speculation along that line, and numerous reports which have sounded all right though lacking confirmation.

What concrete developments are there to encourage the idea that a peace parley isn't outside the range of possibility? Well, there are several things, among which these stand out:

Dan De Luce, one of AP's top-flight correspondents, is making a survey of Europe, and he reports that ERP (The Marshall plan) has achieved its political purpose of checking Communism.

Communism Held Down

"The hard core of Communism in such countries as France and Italy has not been cut back," he records, "but it has not grown. In other countries, like Norway and Denmark, fellow-travelers have been forsaking the Moscow party line.

"In no E.R.P. country is there any likelihood now that Communists could win governmental control by anything short of invasion by the Soviet army."

Then reporting on the vital economic purpose of E.R.P., De Luce says:

"Western Europe's recovery is apparently progressing almost twice as fast now as it did after the First Wold War. But insiders of the E.R.P. still keep their fingers crossed. . . . Men on the inside of the European recovery program claim it now has a 40 to 60 percent chance of long-range success. A year ago they saw only a 20 per cent chance."

Even more important is the signing of the Atlantic Alliance which consolidates the United States and virtually all western Europe. Back of this is the American promise to help provide its allies with the weapons with which to resist aggression from any quarter.

Line Must Stand for Present

In short it's apparent that the line which Moscow has established through central Europe is the line on which it must stand, at least for the present. That being so, the time has arrived for consolidation.

This would seem to be especially true since the Soviet has encountered considerable political disaffection in Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. In the case of Yugoslavia, her two-fisted leader, Marshal Tito, has become the bad lad of the Communist bloc. There also have been signs of discontent elsewhere, notably in Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Thus it would be rather surprising from the standpoint of good generalship, if the Russians didn't pause now. The Muscovites are mighty capable generals.

However, it should not be thought such a pause would mean that the campaign for world Communization was ended or even slackened.

That will continue until either the Red force is spent or it achieves its objectives.

Dresden Club Meets Tuesday

Wants New Husband And Father

Mrs. Elena Le Baron, 30, a divorcee, reads to her eight children in their four-room home in Salt Lake City, Utah. Unable to meet payments on the house and to feed and clothe the children because support payments have not been received from her former husband, Mrs. Le Baron has advertised for a new husband and provider. She said she would like to have more children and pointed out that she would not mind if her new husband already has several children. The children are, upper row from left, Ross, 6; Jenny Lou, 2; Charles, 4, and Le Grand, 3. In the front, from left to right, are Elena, 12, holding David, 4 months; Rosa Linda, 8, and May, 10.

Dr. Geiger Life Member AOF

Dr. Lawrence S. Geiger, Sedalia optometrist, has become a life member of the American Aptometric Foundation to help support research in visual care and advancement of the visual health of the nation.

More than 70 million Americans have eyesight problems which need professional care, according to Dr. William C. Ezell, president of the Foundation.

"Although scientific visual care has advanced more in the last two decades than in all previous history, there is great need for further research, and for improvement of educational opportunities for young men and women who seek to become optometrists," he said. "The Foundation was launched a year ago to deal with such problems. It will finance and administer projects in research, education, publication of technical literature and professional advancement."

Dr. Geiger is a charter member of the organization as well as a life member, Dr. Ezell reported.

ROME — (NEA) — When in Rome, American students studying under the GI Bill of Rights do like the Romans. They're sacrificing the comforts of U. S. college campuses for the ancient cultural surroundings of Italy.

There are 400 of them in Italy at present—225 of them in Rome—but the inly thing they have in common is that they all served in the U. S. armed forces, many of them in the Italian campaign. Otherwise they are 400 individuals who know nothing of each other, and never meet for the big student gatherings that mark American college life.

Although they are closest to the "heart of ancient civilization and learning," the ex-GIs studying in Rome have a rough time trying to get along on the $75 a month granted them under the bill. They eat in special restaurants which have low prices for students, and share rooms in boarding houses, but most of them try to earn extra money by writing short stories, translating movie scripts, playing bit parts in American plays, or similar work.

More than 100 of the veterans in Rome are studying are, crowding into the studio's of the city's Margutto section, Rome's Latin quarter. One of them is Vera Clark, 27, an ex-WAC who is one of the three girls among the GI students. Another is Norman Neuerburg, 23, of Hollywood, Calif., who makes a little extra money by copying frescoes in Pompeii.

One of the few students who has managed to "make good" in a business way while studying is George Salerno, a 29-year-old Army veteran, who has handled publicity for U. S. movie companies here, worked on Rome's American newspaper, and now has offers for various other publicity jobs while he studies languages.

Other students are divided among music, philosophy, and theology. A few are studying at medical schools, although the U. S. government does not encourage such courses because Italian diplomas are not recognized in America.

Probably the one common ground on which most of the students meet is the Veterans Administration office at the U. S. Embassy, where Louis Gallo, of Brooklyn, arranges for students' supplies, handles their monthly checks, and listens to complaints.

Most sympathetic listener, perhaps, is Gallo's assist nt, embassy secretary Theresa Gelati of Providence, R. I. She listened to a GI student who came to the office for advice, and then married him.

No. 13 of a Series on BALANCED FARMING

Life Offers More Through BALANCED FARMING

• You should know what Balanced Farming is and how it works. It's a program of farm management—at its best . . . planned for the individual to utilize and develop resources at hand for the highest net income without jeopardy to the soil or future production. Balanced Farming pays off on farms of all kinds and all sizes.

New horizons of prosperity, influence and better living open up to farm families on the Balanced Farming program through its Family Living Plan. Long hours of toil are shortened, made more pleasant and comfortable. The Balanced Farmer reaps the financial rewards resulting from more and better crops, healthier poultry and livestock. His home is better planned, more comfortable and enjoyable. The farmer takes on added stature—a new place of respect in the community.

Why not start a Balanced Farming program on your farm? The best way to get started is to have a talk with your County Agent or write at once to the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri. You'll get full directions just how to proceed.

The Prosperity of Missouri's Rural Communities Depends Largely upon the Prosperity of the Farmer . . . as He Prospers, They Likewise Prosper.

Just as Balanced Farming is making for farm prosperity in Missouri, your investor-owned, tax-paying electric, gas and water companies of Missouri are extending the comforts and conveniences of the farm family. These utilities are proud of the fact that they are constantly bringing these services to more and more farm families and rural communities. Check your farm expense and ask yourself what other items do so much to make life easy and comfortable . . . at such little cost. This low cost is due to the efficiency of employees and sound management on the part of investor-owned electric, gas and water companies of Missouri.

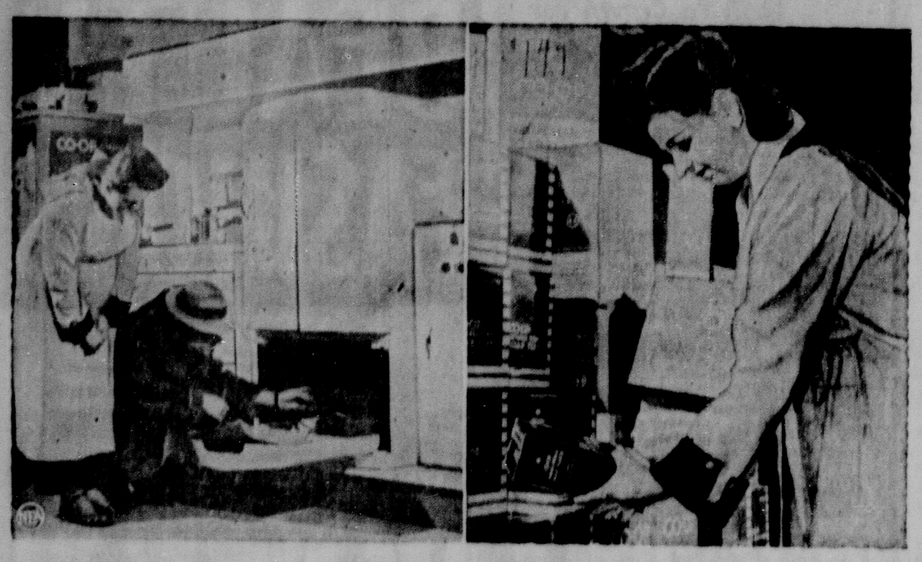
Big Labor Gets Into Big-Scale Co-Op Business

Food, Accessory Stores Sponsored (But Not Owned) by Unions



Labor's move into the co-op business began with food stores like the one above, where 'Co-op' labels share the counters with other products. It has spread to work clothes, auto supplies, paint, and household gadgets as big as the electric refrigerator being inspected at left by customers in one of UAW-sponsored stores in the Detroit area.

By S. Burton Heath
NEA Staff Correspondent

DETROIT—(NEA)—Big Labor is starting a chain of no-profit grocery and meat stores, with sidelines in work clothes automobile supplies, paint, and household gadgets up to and including electric refrigerators and gas ranges.

The United Automobile workers, sparked by the frankly socialistic Reuther brothers, are showing the way.

They have six such stores in the Detroit area—five opened during 1948—and another in South Bend. They plan to open five this year, and enlarge two. They have two co-operative housing ventures, and a third in Detroit, is almost ready for public announcement.

Several other big CIO and AFL unions have started stores — or have specific plans — in various parts of the country.

The unions are anxious to have it made clear that they are not in the food, clothing and accessory business. They neither own nor control the co-ops. They merely inspire the projects, direct and advise ,help, and usually lend money directly or indirectly. Out of union treasuries they are buying stock in a wholesale co-operative to serve the retail stores.

Once a co-op is started it is turned over to its own board of directors, and in this area it immediately contracts for the buying and management services of Eastern Michigan Co-operatives, Inc., which is an agency of the whole co-op movement and not of the unions.

The UAW and the CIO Rubber workers are sparkplugs in a national council in which are represented also the CIO Packing House Workers, the AFL Sleeping Car Porters, and State, County and Municipal Workers. The independent Machinists also are interested.

The CIO Shipbuilders have a co-op department store in Newport News, Va.; CIO and AFL unions are planning department stores in Cleveland and Providence. The AFL Teamsters have a 30-year-old co-operative creamery in Minneapolis. CIO unions in St. Louis have a co-op medical service program, and unions are organizing a group health co-op in Kenosha, Wis. CIO Textile Workers are behind co-ops in Huntswell, Ala., and Stonington, Conn.

The UAW movement is brain-trusted by Victor Reuther, with his brother, Walter Reuther, backing it to the limit, and Al Rightley, late of South Bend, as field director.

There was one co-op at Dearborn, established in 1941. Last January the UAW started a food store in Pontiac. In April it created Motor City Co-op No. 1 in Detroit, and the same corporation opened a second store, in November, on the edge of Hamtramck. This is the heaviest concentration of automobile workers in the country. It averages $8000 a week in sales, and just before Christmas it touched a top of $10,500 one week.

Stores were opened in Flint and Lansing during the year. Two more are planned this year for Detroit and one each for Saginaw, Muskegon and Toledo.

The Flint store illustrates the method of organization. There union locals put up about $32,000 to buy land and a building. These are rented to the co-op at the cost of carrying charges—interest, amoritization, taxes, depreciation, etc.

Stock was sold to anybody willing to buy. Some 2000 persons put up about $25,000, with which stock and fixtures were bought. No special effort was made to sell to union members, but since automobile-making is Flint's big industry, most of the co-op stockholders are members of the UAW

None of the UAW's co-ops are as big as that which the Rubber Workers started in Eau Claire, Wis. There some merchants announced that they would not sell to men on strike against U.S. Rubber. The union men bought two city blocks for a co-op. Business men had the area re-zoned, and the union had to go to court to establish its right to use the land for a store. Meanwhile a new skating rink next door had proven unsuccessful, and the building was offered to the union. In three weeks $55,000 was raised by selling stock to members and their friends.

The store was opened last November, with food, hardware, furniture, house furnishings and the like. C. J. McLanahan, manager of Eastern Michigan Co-operatives, says it is doing a business of $20,000 to $25,000 a week. The union also has a flourishing fuel oil co-op in the same city.

The UAW is frank about its intention to push the co-operative movement as much as possible.

"Co-operatives are in keeping with the American tradition of democracy and self-help," says Walter Reuther. "They are designed to fit the economic needs of large numbers of families. I propose now that they be tried on a testing ground scale that will prove them out.

"The spokesmen of business, who say that competition is the life of trade, should welcome competition from co-operatives."

Awaits Sentence

Baron Ernst von Weizsaecker, Nazi wartime ambassador to the Vatican, was convicted by an all-American war crimes court in Nuernberg, Germany, of having helped plan aggressive war against Czechoslovakia. It was the first conviction on this charge against a member of Hitler's hierarchy since Goering and 11 other top Nazis were sentenced to hang in 1946.

Lions Club to Sponsor Choir

The Sedalia Lions Club is sponsoring the Philharmonic Choir Wesleyan, of Salina, Kas., for a performance in Sedalia, Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, April 22, at the First Methodist church, Fourth street and Osage avenue.

Free tickets have been printed for seating capacity of the church and are now being given out by Lions Club members. Anyone desiring to attend may obtain a ticket by contacting a Lions member. Admission by ticket only until 7:45 o'clock, and following this time, anyone who did not have a chance to receive a ticket may be admitted providing there is seating room.

This Kansas Choir will feature over 60 well trained voices. Organized over twenty-three years ago, the Philharmonic Choir has gained a splendid reputation over the entire United States for its fine concerts. The Choir has traveled about 40,000 miles during nine major tours.

Under the capable direction of Dean Leon A. Willgus, the choir sings highly pleasing Brahms motets, difficult Bach renditions, as well as modern American and English folk music. The tours have served to raise higher the standards of a capella singing.

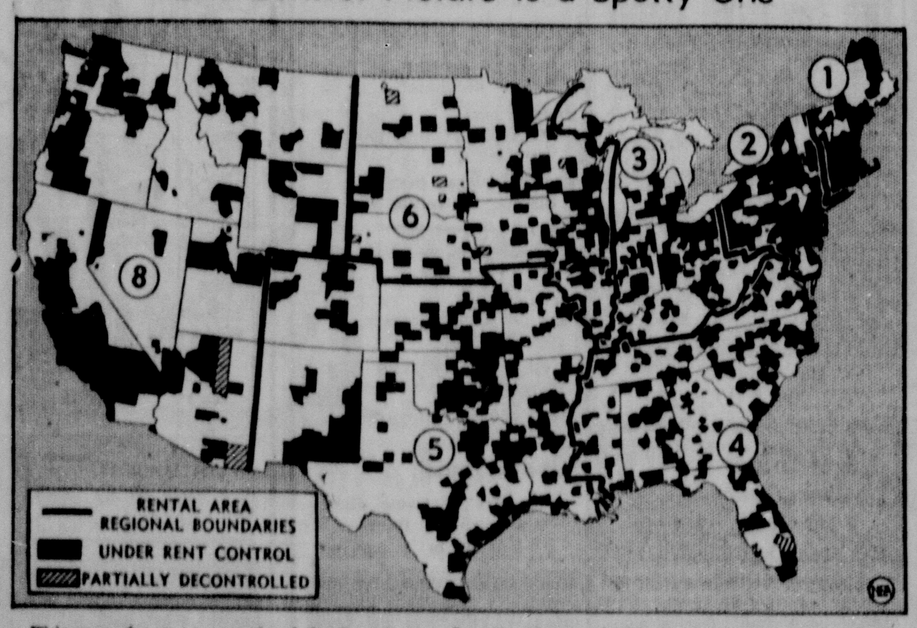
Rent Control Picture Is a Spotty One



This map shows areas under federal rent control as the Housing and Rent Act of 1947 expired and the new "compromise" rent control bill enacted by Congress went into effect. In the areas shown on the map are approximately 14,250,000 controlled rental units, plus 500,000 others under lease, which were not controlled. Under the new law, the latter will return to control at current lease rents. Map data from Office of the Housing Expediter. Numbers designate control areas. Note that there is no Area Seven.

Science Digs in Baskets of Dirt For Drugs

Earth May Yield the Long-Sought Cure for Virus-Type Diseases

THE WORLD'S EARTH, in endless samples like those arrayed above, turned up the mold from which Dr. Benjamin M. Duggar developed aureomycin, newest of the "wonder drugs." But once a new drug has proven itself in the test tube it is tried on animals to see its effect on living bodies, like the mice (right) being tested by a Lederle researcher. Only if it passes this test is it tried on human beings.

By S. Burton Heath
NEA Staff Correspondent

PEARL RIVER, N. Y.—(NEA)—Out of the soil in your lawn or pasture, might come the long-sought cure for small pox, for measles, for the ridiculous but miserable and expensive common cold.

These are caused by that type of germs known as viruses. They do not seem to respond to the "wonder drugs," penicillin, streptomycin or aureomycin, which do so much with the two other types of infectious disease spread by bacteria and rickettsia.

But mold from the soil produced the drugs that brought under control a score of other germs. Many research laboratories are combing the country for soil that may contain a mold that will prove the mortal enemy of the virus diseases.

The mycologists (fungus researchers) at Lederle Laboratories in Pearl River, directed by Dr. Benjamin M. Duggar, have studied available soil reports from all over this country and to some extent from abroad. Duggar knows that certain types of mold appear in certain types of soil. Earth is gathered from far and wide, that might contain the molds that will produce a new wonder drug.

The mycologists submit samples to the scrutiny of the highly trained eyes and brain of Dr. Duggar. Working under the guidance of these specialist-"mold-hunters" are many lesser, but still important individuals who carry ou the endless tests preceding discovery.

Long years of laboratory experience and a deep understanding of microbiology are the basic foundation for the type of ability possessed by Dr. Duggar. His discerning eye for the unusual in the behavior of molds was the essential ingredient in discovering aureomycin.

Once the discovery was made, the huge Lederle research facilities moved into action to investigate further applications of the drug and to perfect production techniques.

Aided by the intuition developed from years of search, Dr. Duggar has collected innumerable specimens of soil from selected spots in the United States as well as foreign countries. These soils have come from the most homely places, fields and pastures, lawns and gardens, but their selection is not at random. Complex chemical reasons, climatic conditions and other factors are considered in the selections.

Dr. Duggar discovered aureomycin, which does most of the things done by the other two antibiotics and exerts several new actions of its own from the mold spore named Streptomyces aureofaciens. With aureomycin now in full production, Dr. Duggar now is seeking new molds that will produce drugs to do things that even aureomycin will not do.

How far he has gone is, of course, not for publication as yet, but he is willing to admit that he is working with many hundreds of cultures that interest him enough for further study.

A small number of these are promising enough so that larger test quantities are being made. Some are being made in quantities sufficient to try on living tissue.

"Out of any one of these—or, for athat matter, out of more than one of them—might come new antibiotics that would be as remarkable as penicillin and aureomycin," said Dr. Dugger.

The methods by which this soil are studied illustrate the way in which, in the hands of skilled scientists, such useful drugs are developed.

From each sample of earth, Dr. Duggar makes a culture in the spores it contains. Meanwhile he grows the germs against which he hopes the mold will prove effective.

On a plate he places individual spores of the mold he is testing. After the mold has a head start in growth he spreads the germ culture on the plate. If areas develop around the mold spores in which the germ culture fails to grow, he makes further tests until he has a mold that is "antagonistic" to a given germ or a series of germs.

When such experiments indicated that he was on the trail of a valuable new drug, the research-production team at Lederle made aureomycin in larger quantity. It was given to animals with various types of infections to see if the drugs had the same effect in a living body as it had against the germs in the test tube. It was also given to healthy animals that later were exposed to a given infection to see whether the drug would prevent as well as cure.

This stage already has been reached by some of the new drugs that Dr. Duggar has made from other earth molds since discovering aureomycin. The public will hear little about these drugs until they pass all tests and prove useful in clinical work on human beings.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; eat a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for 33¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Hot Debate On Interest Bill

House Holds Out For Top On Small Loans Of 18 Per Cent

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—A defiant House of Representatives stuck by its guns Wednesday for a top interest rate on installment loans of 18 per cent.

The vote to hold fast on the 18 per cent maximum was 74 to 54 with three representatives refusing to take sides.

After adopting several amendments which did not change the intent of the bill, the House advanced it to final voting stage with a voice vote.

The vote gave the measure just four less than the 78 needed for final passage in the House.

But before the vote came more than three hours of argument, bitter at times and at others humorous.

Original sponsors of the pending bill wanted to reconsider the vote by which an amendment setting the 18 per cent top was adopted a month ago.

The sponsors hoped to defeat the amendment and reinsert their original maximum of 27 per cent a year.

Supporters of 18 per cent as a maximum stayed with the idea that small loan companies were spending thousands of dollars to get the higher rate passed. They said they couldn't understand why the companies were so eager to spend money and time just so the companies could help out the poor borrower.

Supporters of the higher rate pressed for an interest rate law so legal lenders could enter the field and prevent loan sharks and salary purchasers from gouging the borrowers.

Brought Forth Oratory

The arguments were presented sometimes in plain, simple language and sometimes in flights of oratory.

Some representatives accused small loan lobbyists of seeking to corrupt the legislators.

Others declared the small loan representatives were no worse than other lobbyists.

Reps. Floyd L. Snyder (D) of Jackson county, W. D. Truce (R) of Cedar county and D. J. Houtchens (D) of Henry county refused after the vote to have any more to do with the bill which they had introduced at the outset.

The worked over bill provides these rates on installment loans for which there is no security:

1. On loans up to $100 a maximum of 18 per cent a year.

2. On loans of $500 a maximum rate of 10 per cent a year.

The bill provides that on loans of more than $500 only the present eight per cent maximum interest could be charged. And lenders could not charge any extra fees or commissions.

Between $100 and $500 the rate on interest would be figured by an intricate formula, but lenders would have to show clearly what the interest would be to each borrower.

If the lender misrepresented the rate or charged more than the maximum the borrower wouldn't have to pay the interest or the principal of the loan.

Those who favored 18 per cent as a ceiling on interest leveled their main attack at the lobbyists. They accused the men of offering campaign donations—"tacit bribes." Lobbyists did not come right out and ask for support of a high rate bill, they said, but it was implied.

GOOD SERVICE IS A LOT OF THINGS

It isn't easy to define exactly what makes satisfactory service. Often you'll leave a store or shop well pleased with your purchase. The clerk was polite and efficient, you got what you wanted at a fair price, and you're happy about the whole thing. On other occasions —well, you can't just put your finger on it, but something was lacking and inwardly you determined that next time you'll shop somewhere else. Good service is a lot of things . . . a welcome smile, prompt, helpful attention, a friendly invitation to call again. Little things, perhaps, but they add up to satisfied customers. Such personalized service is traditional at all 83 Crown Drug Stores, so if you haven't shopped at Crown lately, drop in for refreshment at the fountain, and for those drug and toiletry items. Crown service . . . quick, courteous, convenient . . . awaits you.

Paul S. Read on the County School Board

Paul S. Read, Sedalia Route 4, was elected as a member of the county board of education during a Pettis county school board meeting held at the court house Tuesday morning.

Between seventy-five and one hundred members attended the meeting. Mr. Reed will serve as a member until the second Tuesday of April, 1952, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of George Murphy of Greer Ridge.

H. H. Ream, of Green Ridge, served on the county board of education during the interim from the resignation of Mr. Murphy until the annual election date for choosing board members or filling vacancies on the board.

New Officer In Charge

Lieutenant Commander Richard J. Dressling, U. S. Navy, graduate of the Naval Academy class of 1939, officially relieved Commander C. P. Callahan, Jr., as Officer in Charge of the St. Louis Navy Recruiting area on 11 April. The area covered by this office includes all of Southern Illinois, all of Missouri, except western border and parts of Kentucky and Arkansas.

Commander Callahan, Officer in Charge of the Area for over three years, is now under orders to take command of the submarine USS Barbero on the west coast.

Southeast Asia: Next Big Red Battleground

It Takes Ruthless Steps to Balk Communists

Fighting terror with terror, these Grenadier Guards at work smoking Communists out of Malaya. In background is the smoke of a burning Communis t-held position.

Dead and wounded Communists, caugh in Malaya's anti-Red drive, lie in the street near Kajang. They were flushed from hiding only 17 miles from Malaya's capital.

Banished for Red co-operation—Chinese squatters ride a train to detention camp before being sent back to China. No proof is needed under Mayala's emergency anti-Red decrees.

By Walter Briggs
NEA Special Correspondent

KUALA LUMPUR, Federation of Malaya — (NEA) — The Communist bandits who have terrorized this rich country since last June are gradually being weeded out of their jungle lairs. But it is taking ruthless tactics to do it.

Security forces realize that after the Communists have consolidated their grip on China, they will probably move into Southeast Asia. Thus no holds are barred in Malaya's efforts to keep the Reds from getting a foothold.

To bring peace to Malaya the security forces—police and auxiliaries, army, navy and Royal Air Force—raid villages suspected of harboring Communists. Bombs and machine guns are used. Innocent persons sometimes die.

They shoot anyone found with unauthorized weapons.

They throw into jail anyone suspected of radicalism. No proof is necessary, under emergency decrees.

They move whole villages and banish hundreds, some undoubtedly innocent of any crime, to China, their native home.

"We must be tough," a top police official told this correspondent, "because the Communists are tough. It's the only way we can get rid of these Reds and live in peace again.

"The bandits extort money from the people. We make it a crime to pay extortion money. They force the people to feed and house them. We make it a crime to cooperate with them.

"This is rough on the people. This is fascism. But in war we must resort to all kinds of controls to defeat Communism.

"And it's paying off. We're winning."

Guesses as to how long will be necessary to clear the jungles completely of the Communists range from a few months to two years.

Hubbard High Fashion Show

The fashions for spring and summer, and frocks for Easter will be on display in the annual fashion show of the C. C. Hubbard high school, Friday night.

All garments on display were made in the Home Economics department of the C. C. Hubbard High school under the supervision of Miss Catheryn Ferguson.

Over seven hundred dollars have been spent with the Sedalia merchants for the purchase of material. "Buy at Home" is a slogan of the Home Economics department, and the lesson has been learned and well applied in purchasing for this annual festival.

The following will be displayed: Kiddies' dresses and suits, spring prints and ginghams, street and afternoon dresses, suits and coats, hats, gloves and pocketbooks.

Students will model the above garments and accessories.

A cordial invitation is extended to all citizens to attend, and see what the students of this department are being taught in home making.

Safety Pin-Up

It's pin-up time in Texas with the 100th anniversary of the invention of the safety pin. So Margaret Litteral helps point up the fact as she loils in El Paso sunshine. The safety pin was invented in 1849 by Walter Hunt of New York, who sold his patent for $400.

County School Supts. Met

A meeting of the County School Superintendents of Central Missouri district was held Tuesday at the Pettis county court house with the president, J. M. Wilson of Jefferson City presiding.

A general discussion on problems pertaining to the school legislation were discussed. Harold Young of the State Department of Education was in attendance.

The counties represented were: Pettis, Saline, Cooper, Moniteau, Morgan, Benton, Henry, Johnson and Maries.

Chancel Choir to Present 'Crucifixion'

The chancel choir of the First Baptist church will present "The Crucifixion" by John Stainer, a sacred meditation of the passion of the Holy Redeemer, at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening at the church, under the direction of Norman Webb, assistant pastor.

Soloists will be Aubrey Case, Paul Ginn, Carl Yessen, Francis Rudd and Kenneth Farley. A quartet composed of Mrs. Charles, Mrs. Ben Klein, Kenneth Farley and Carl Yessen will sing. Mrs. Clyde Williams, church organist, will be at the organ.

Good Milk Producer

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., April 11 —During the last test year, the 13-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by John F. Bluhm, Smithton, produced an average of 395 pounds of butterfat and 10,883 pounds of milk in the official Herd Improvement Registry program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Milking was done 2 times daily and testing was supervised by University of Missouri in cooperation with the National Holstein headquarters.

Former Sedalian Has Story in Msgazine

A story, "'Students' For a Day" written by Miss Betty Jo Watts, a former member of the Democrat news staff, appeared in the April issues of Airlines, the international in-flight magazine.

Miss Watts is now in the public relations department of the Eastern Air Lines, Inc., in New York.

The article written by Miss Watts tells of the Airport Operations Institute of the Civil Aeronautics Administration for the staff of the Chicago public schools in which the Eastern Air Lines, American Airlines and United Airlines participated.

Lenten Services at St. Patrick's Church

Fr. Mark VanGorp, C. S. S. R., of Kansas City, will be in charge of special services at the St. Patrick's church, commencing Friday noon. Fr. J. T. Nolan will lead the Good Friday worship Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Starting at 6:30 Saturday morning a two hour service will follow.

8,154 TELEPHONES IN SEDALIA

Still pitching . . . to keep pace with telephone growth here

IN 1945 THERE WERE 5,736

Sedalia is growing—and growing fast.

One way to measure the growth is to look at the number of telephones. Today there are 8,154 — 42 per cent more than the number in service at the end of the war.

To keep pace with the growth, we have spent almost $715,000 gross to enlarge and improve telephone service here since V-J Day. That money went into more cable, wire, switching equipment, poles, and all the other things it takes to make a telephone system grow.

There's still a lot to do. More than 100 persons are waiting for telephone service. Also 640 people have requested individual or two-party lines because their present service does not meet their wants or needs.

This year alone we have scheduled projects costing more than $60,000. And even after that, more will remain to be done. We're going to keep right on doing our best to build the plant needed to give telephone users here the kind and amount of service they need and want.

New telephone plant—a great amount of it—is needed, not only here, but in the hundreds of other communities served by this company.

The problem is to raise the millions of dollars required to build that plant. That money does not come from the rates you pay. It comes from investors — literally hundreds of thousands of men and women in all walks of life who are willing to have their savings invested in the telephone business.

This we know — investors will not provide the money unless telephone earnings are comparable to those of other businesses.

DiMaggio Expects to Leave Hospital Today

BALTIMORE, April 14—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio expects his discharge from Johns Hopkins hospital today — but there is still the big question of how long a sore heel will keep the big slugger out of the New York Yankee lineup.

Doctors examined him yesterday. They reported finding "immature calcium deposits" around his heel.

Afterwards, Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, director of the hospital issued a statement that DiMaggio . . . "will receive the usual treatment for this condition, which is seen in many parts of the body.

"It is expected he will be discharged on April 14, but will continue treatment as an out patient.

"The length of the disability will be determined by the results of the treatment."

DETROIT — The E&B bowling team got a new five-man national seasonal record of 3,583 by rolling games of 1,168, 1,189, 1,226.

Pitcher is Hoping For Hot Weather

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14—(AP)—Mort Cooper, the veteran National league pitcher now essaying a comeback with the Chicago Cubs, is hoping for a spell of hot weather this weekend.

The big right hander, convinced that his comeback is going to be a success, hopes to try his arm against the Chicago White Sox in the resumption of the spring city series. The 35-year-old Cooper, who in 10 years in the National league won 128 games and lost 75, believes his arm will improve with hot weather.

"My arm feels stronger every time I throw and it doesn't pain me at all," Cooper said. "I'm still a bit wild, though. It hurt right along after the first operation on my elbow, but the second cutting seems to have corrected the trouble. There isn't even a twinge now."

Orville Brown Whips Kashey

Wednesday night at the weekly wrestling show of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, Orval Brown, Wallace, Kansas, and "King Kong" Kashey, Compton, California, tangled in the main event. Kashey won the first fall, Brown the last two after roughhouse tactics were resorted to when Kashey started "playing" dirty.

Kashey using the Japanese reverse half crab made Brown give in after eight minutes and 28 seconds, but both boys had battered each other around for a good five of those eight minutes. In the second period Brown after slugging Kashey, applied a series of head locks, a body smother and the fall was his in five minutes and 49 seconds; then in the third fall period after practically knocking Kashey out, he smothered him for the fall in eight minutes and 19 seconds.

In the semi-windup—which to the fans was the best — Sonny Myers, St. Joseph, Mo., and Dean Detton, Los Angeles, went to a draw after each won a fall. Myers took the first with a series of drop kicks and a smother in 10 minutes and 56 seconds while Detton won the second on a step-over toe hold in 16 minutes and 23 seconds. They were battling each other when the bell ended the third fall period.

Opening the show, Jules La Rance, Canada, and Lucky Simunovich, Hawaii, had a free-for-all battle all among themselves. They fought and slugged, tied knots in each others legs and La Lance finally got a Canadian grapevine to win in 18 minutes and 17 seconds.

Next Wednesday the champion of the world among women wrestlers, Miss Mildred Burke, who has been the subject of feature articles in various sports magazines and even Life, will come to Sedalia to meet Betty Murphy, Columbus, Ohio. The match is an anticipation of action among women—anything goes.

Bobby Bruns, Chicago sailor comes to town again and will meet "King Kong" Kashey in what will be a double feature main event program.

Cards Won 3-2 Over Cubs Yesterday With The Bases Loaded

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Washington gets its first look at its 1949 Senators tonight when they meet the Brooklyn Dodgers in an exhibition game at Griffith stadeum.

CINCINNATI, April 14—(AP)—Johnny Lindell apparently will be the New York Yankees' centerfielder during the absence of the ailing Joe DiMaggio.

Lindell took over the post for nine innings yesterday as the Yanks whipped Terre Haute, Ind., of the Three-I League, 10-4. He singled and doubled in three times at bat and drove in three runs.

HICKORY, N. C., April 14—(AP)—The heavy hitting New York Giants were still searching today for starting pitchers. Clint Hartung, one of the biggest "ifs" of the mound staff, drew the assignment here against Pobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians.

Only Larry Jansen has shown an ability to pitch consistently good ball in starting roles. Sheldon Jones was blasted for seven hits including home runs by Cleveland's Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner in five innings yesterday. The Giants won, however, 16-6, scoring 10 runs in the second inning.

LITTLE ROCK, April 14—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs play the last game in their exhibition series today. Al Brazle was scheduled to hurl for Cards.

Card manager Eddie Dyer used three pitchers in the 13-inning contest against the Cubs at Houston, Tex., yesterday. St. Louis won 3-2 when Joe Garagiola was walked with the bases loaded.

Ken Johnson pitched the first five innings for the Cards but was plagued by wildness. He was followed by Bill Reeder and Jerry Staley.

TEXARKANA, Tex., April 14—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns finished their pre-season exhibition tour today with a game against Texarkana of the Big State League. Ned Garver, who pitched the full nine innings his last two times on the mound, was scheduled to start for St. Louis.

Karl Drews and Tom Ferrick combined to give the Browns a 5-0 victory over the Gladewater, Tex., Bears yesterday.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs have sent pitcher Dutch Leonard to Chicago to rest for toworrow's spring city's series opener with the White Sox.

Leonard defeated the Sox six times several years ago and Manager Charlie Grimm figures the veteran right hander can add to the Cubs series lead over their rivals. Earlier this spring in California, the Cubs won two out of three games with the Sox.

Grimm also indicated he will start Leonard against Rip Sewell and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League opener in Wrigley Field Tuesday.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. April 14—(AP)—New faces in the Chicago White Sox' opening day lineup in Detroit next Tuesday may include three rookies — outfielders Gus Zernial and Gerry Scala and first baseman Gordon Goldsberry, manager Jack Onslow has indicated. Catcher Joe Tipton, from Cleveland, also will be a newcomer in the Sox lineup.

Abetted by Zernial's fifth inning homer last night, the Sox defeated the Memphis Chicks 4 to 2. Matt Surkont became the second Sox pitcher to go a full nine innings as he let down the Chicks with seven hits.

The Sox wound up the travel phase of their barnstorming here against the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

Baptist Youth Rally For Crusade

The Singspiration of Harmony Baptist Association will hold its regular meeting at the First Baptist church here Saturday at 8:00 o'clock p. m. The meeting will feature a special evangelistic rally in preparation for the Evangelistic Crusade which will be held simultaneously in nine Baptist churches in the county, beginning Easter and continuing through Sunday, May 1. The churches participating in the Crusade are: First Baptist Church, East Sedalia Baptist Church, Calvary Baptist Church and Pacific Heights in Sedalia; Green Ridge, Smithton, Olive Branch, Mt. Herman and Walnut Branch, all within the county.

Rev. Jack Stanton

The young people from all the Baptist churches are expected and an attendance of 250 is forecast for the Singspiration evangelistic rally in charge of Jack Blaylock, president of the group. The inspirational speaker will be Rev. Jack Stanton, pastor of the Carpenter Street Baptist Church, Moberly, Missouri. Rev. Stanton is highly recommended, and the Singspiration group is anxious to rally the strength of youth to the support of the evangelistic work of the churches.

The general public is invited to attend this youth rally.

Motorcycle Riders Fined

Two motorcycle riders, who did some "sash-shaving" and backfired their motorcycles on Ohio avenue Wednesday evening, pleaded guilty to Judge Harry O. Berry in police court this morning and were fined $10 each. The two were Ralph Harris, 18, R.F.D. No. 2, Sedalia, and Richard Peterson, 20, 423 North Summit avenue.

Numerous complaints reached the police department of motorcycle riders doing some fancy riding around town and causing their machines to give out a loud popping sound, by backfiring the motors. Police have been endeavoring to catch the riders and the two arrested Wednesday were reported by the officers as not being "the only ones."

"Sooner or later we will get them all," Chief Ed Neighbors said today, "and if it does not cease, maybe higher fines will help to put a stop to this disturbances.

John Edward Washington, Negro, 300 West Pettis street, charged with careless driving on West Main street, pleaded guilty and was fined $15 by Judge Berry. Washington was driving an automobile.

Mickey Owen Goes To Winner, S. Dak.

WINNER, S. D., April 14—(AP)—Mickey Owen, former Brooklyn Dodger catcher, has been hired as manager-player of the Winner team of the South Dakota State Baseball league, it was announced here.

In addition to his duties with the state league team Owen will have charge of the junior-junior and American Legion junior baseball program here.

Owen, suspended for five years from the organized baseball after jumping to the Mexican league, played several exhibition games with the Winner team here last year.

No salary terms were announced.

Damage to Two Cars in Wreck

Considerable damage resulted to two automobiles which were in collision at Highway 65 and Osage street about 9:15 o'clock this morning. Slight injuries resulted to the occupant of one car. No arrests were made.

The cars involved were a 1928 Buick sedan driven by Miss Kate Fleming, 76, R. F. D. No. 2, Sedalia, and a 1940 Chevrolet coach driven by George V. Leonard, Tipton. Miss Fleming was driving south on Osage avenue, and Leonard was going north on Highway 65, and the collision occurred on the curve where the two roads intersect.

James McCarthy, riding in the Fleming car, received a cut on his hight hand and knee.

The State Patrol made an investigation.

CVA Measures Introduced

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—Legislation to set up a Columbia Valley administration for development of the great natural resources in the Pacific Northwest was introduced today by Reps. Mitchell and Jackson, both Washington Democrats.

President Truman requested it yesterday in a message to Capitol Hill. Reaction among lawmakers was immediate and sharply divided.

The President praised the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and although he did not say so, it is believed the CVA would be modeled along similar lines, if approved.

Today the President indicated there will be delay in the submission of proposals on the St. Lawrence seaway project and a Missouri Valley administration.

A news conference inquiry as to whether he planned a message calling for a Missouri Valley Authority brought the reply, not at the present time.

Lost Airlift Plane Lands

WIEBADEN, Germany, April 14—(AP)—The U. S. Air Force announced today a C54 airlift plane missing for more than 24 hours has landed near Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. Its crew of three and one passenger were uninjured.

The air force said the plane lost its way on a trip from Celle, in the British zone of Germany, to Berlin, carrying 10 tons of coal. It strayed from its course because of a complete electrical failure shortly after it took off. Minor repairs are needed and the crew will fly back to the U. S. Zone of Germany, the announcement said.

The crewmen were identified as 1st Lt. Winfried C. Winkler, Colorado Springs, Colo., pilot; 2nd Lt. Robert L. Craig, Jefferson City, Mo., co-pilot; and Staff Sgt. James H. Cochran, Wetumpka, Ala., engineer.

Dentists Move State Headquarters

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—The Missouri State Dental Association is moving its headquarters from Columbia to Jefferson City.

The executive council made the decision at its annual meeting here yesterday. It also appointed Dr. Rubin R .Rhoades of Jefferson City as secretary. He succeeds the late Dr. C. W. Digges of Columbia, who was secretary for more than 15 years until he died a few months ago.

Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—Joe McCarthy says the only time he ever heard of a ball game being called off because of a busted leg was the time when Pabbit Maranville suffered a disastrous break in an exhibition at St. Petersburg, Fla. . . . But if you read the New York papers these days, you'd think the Yankees are about to call off an entire season because of a damaged heel. . . . Andy Tomasic, the former Temple U. footballer who was ticketed for Trenton, still is with the Giants and may be that relief pitcher they need so badly. . . . Moon Mondschoin, who was ineligible for track at NYU all winter, has been approved for the outdoor season by the eastern conference. That may be confusing to some schools, which don't distinguish between indoor and outdoor track.

Short Cut

Tom Dowd, the Red Sox drum beater, passes on this Zeke Bonura yarn. . . . Seems that after Zeke was sold by the White Sox, he finished out a season in Washington, drove to Chicago and from there to his New Orleans home. . . . Someone asked how come he had taken such a round-about route and Zeke replied: "I know my way home by Chicago."

Quote, Unquote

Otis Wile, Oklahoma A&M publicitor: "The basketball rules committee decided to take the last two minutes off a game and play 'em first."

Ejected From His Own Party

TULSA, Okla., April 14—(AP)—What price glory? A wrenched shoulder, says Hollywood actor Chill Wills.

Wills, here for a world premiere of the movie "Tulsa" in which he has a supporting role, was mistaken last night for a gate crasher at a special party honoring principals of the film.

"The officer asked where I thought I was going, and I told him I was going to the party by invitation," Wills said, adding:

"One thing led to another and before I knew it I was being escorted out the place on the business end of a professional-like hammer lock."

Bystanders intervened and identified Wills. The policeman offered his apologies and allowed the actor to join the party, but not before Wills was treated by a doctor for the strained shoulder.

Prison Terms For High Nazis

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 14.—(AP)—Nineteen high Nazi officials, convicted in the final American War Crimes trial, drew prison sentences today ranging from four to 25 years.

Each will receive a reduction of sentence equal to the time he has spent in jail—about four years. They promptly appealed to have the verdicts set aside on grounds the U. S. tribunal which tried them lacked jurisdiction.

Gottlob Berger, SS (Elite Guard) lieutenant general who was convicted of crimes including participation in mass murder and atrocities, drew sentences aggregating 25 years, the heaviest imposed on any of the 19. All had been found guilty of helping in various ways the Nazi horror program of aggression, plunder, brutality and murder.

The best known of the 19, Baron Ernst Von Weizsaecker, was sentenced to seven years. He is a former envoy to the Vatican and former state secretary of the German foreign ministry.

Prowler Reported

Mrs. Charles Jenkins, 906 South Missouri avenue, reported to the police about 11:45 o'clock Wednesday night a prowler was around her home. Police made an investigation.

Wallgren's Name To Stay

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—President Truman has no intention of withdrawing Mon C. Wallgren's nomination as chairman of the national resources board, he said today.

The President, asked at a news conference if Wallgren was considering asking him to withdraw the nomination, told reporters they would have to ask the former Washington governor what is on his mind.

As for himself, the President said he had no intention of recalling the appointment.

Propose Cigarette Tax

TRENTON, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Trenton residents may smoke their way to better streets.

The city council has proposed a levy of two cents on each package of cigarettes sold, the revenue to be used for street resurfacing and improvements.

City Attorney Robert Loman was instructed to prepare the tax ordinance and present it to the council next Thursday night.

OBITUARIES

Pvt. Harding C. Young Services

Funeral services for Pvt. Harding C. Young, who was killed in action in Germany, March 3, 1945, were held at the Ewing funeral home at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

The Rev. C. Arthur Freeberg, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Iewis and Mrs. Roy Kirchhofer sang, "Precious Memories," "Beautiful Isle" and "O Dry Those Tears" accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

Friends who served as pallbearers were: Wilbur Hedge, Omer Simon, Sedalia; Vernon Holsten, Elroy Young, Stover; Wayne Masters, California; Edwin Wehrman, Ionia.

Post 16 of the American Legion was in charge of the military service at the grave.

Interment was in the Memorial Park cemetery.

The body of Pvt. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Young, 601 East Fourteenth street, arrived in Sedalia at noon Tuesday accompanied by Cpl. Kenneth Shriver.

Church Board Upset by Pipe

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14—(AP)—The First Methodist church board met to pick a new minister last night.

But seven fire companies got the call instead.

The meeting warmed up quickly after Dr. Leonard C. Williams, a physician, tipped his pipe over.

His pants caught fire.

Other board members rushed to extinguish them, but some sparks apparently caught in the upholstery. Shortly after the meeting broke up without a decision. Fire did nearly $5,000 damage to the warehouse company office where the board held a meeting to discuss church business.

Nebraska Defeated Kansas In a Big Seven Track Meet

LINCOLN, Neb., April 14—(AP)—Nebraska defeated Kansas 76-55 yesterday in a Big Seven dual track meet in which five meet records were broken and a sixth was tied.

Pat Bowers of Kansas turned in a time of 1:53.5 in the 880, bettering the old mark of 1:55.7 set by Glen Cunningham of K.U. in 1933.

Bus Load of Ball Players Escaped Being Hit by Train

GLADEWATER, Tex., April 14—(AP)—A speeding freight train came very close to wiping out a busload of the St. Louis Browns here yesterday. Going 70 miles an hour, it missed them by one foot.

Twenty of the Browns were being driven from the high school to the ball park where they had an exhibition game. The driver went past a gateman's warning, stalled on the tracks as the train bore down and got going again just in time.

Manager Zack Taylor saw it from a street corner.

Suffers Broken Back In Pole Vaulting

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Larry Bradley, 17-year-old Central high school junior, is in a hospital with a broken back suffered in a pole vaulting accident.

He fell after the pole broke.

Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bradley, is a letterman quarterback on the school's football team.

Britain Asks For Showdown

NEW YORK, Apil 14.—(AP)—Britain challenged Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko today to file a formal complaint in the U. N. against the North Atlantic pact so the general assembly could have a showdown vote on it.

Russia's No. 1 deputy foreign minister injected the 12-power Atlantic treaty into the assembly debate yesterday, calling it an aggressive move aimed at the Soviet Union.

The Soviet delegate, however, did not indicate any plans for trying to place the question formally on the assembly calendar for action.

British Minister of State Hector McNeil, first big western power diplomat to reply to Gromyko's blast, said that if the Russians really want redress they can file a complaint and find a place on the agenda.

But, McNeill added: "I for one do not expect such straightforward procedure."

McNeil charged Gromyko was using the assembly for a propaganda forum.

Oppose Merging Power Co-Ops

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—(AP)—R E A Cooperatives will not be able to merge to form power generating Co-ops, a Missouri senate committee has decided.

The agriculture committee struck the words from a bill yesterday which opponents had said would lead to formation of "super-dooper Co-ops."

But the groop kept a section letting rural electrification Co-ops keep on serving towns which grow bigger than the present 1,500 population maximum.

Individual directors of R E A distributing Co-ops still can go together and form power generating Co-ops, Senator William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood said. Quinn is one of the bill's sponsors.

He said they are doing it now.

The bill sought to make formation of generating and transmitting Co-ops easier, Quinn told the committee.

Held Memorial Services

The Ladies Auxiliary to the V. F. W., Walter Elkins Post 2508, met Wednesday night for memorial services for Mrs. Phillip Fisher, Mrs. Clara Scott and Mrs. Goff, with Mrs. Esther Smith, president, presiding.

The next meeting will be held April 27.

Virgil Ragar Wins High Recognition

Virgil B. Ragar, General Agent here for the Franklin Life Insurance Company of Springfield, Illinois, has been notified that his outstanding record during March qualified him for membership in the company's exclusive "President's Club," a group limited to the twenty highest individual producers in the entire national sales organization each month.

In releasing the names of March elections to "President's Club," Chas. E. Becker, President of the Franklin Life thanked Mr. Ragar for his outstanding contribution to the new high record of production set by the company during March. During the month, the sales force celebrated the company's 65th anniversary with a sales contest which produced $20,000,000.00 in new sales.

Seattle Police Experiment; Camp Gives Alcoholics a Chance Instead of a Cell

Rehabilitation camp inmates are called patients, not prisoners, in Seattle's experiment. Outdoor work (above is assigned on basis of physical ability. Jobs often await men when they leave camp (left).

By Fred Zavattero
NEA Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash., — (NEA) — "What most of these men need is a chance. That's practically all they ever needed. And we're here to give it to them," said Seattle Police Sergeant Ross Burr.

The men are alcoholics, and the chance Seattle police are giving them is a sentence at the department's rehabilitation camp in the Duwamish Valley instead of in jail—a chance that today leads to jobs for many of the men.

One of the first to be organized by a municipal police force, Seattle's camp is an experiment in the correction of one of today's major social problems—chronic alcoholism. Although most police and medical authorities agree it is a disease, intoxication is still classified as a crime by city and state statutes.

Seattle found that nearly 70 per cent of the police effort and expense was being devoted to combatting chronic alcoholism. But nothing was received in return. Men were picked up off the streets and sentenced to jail. After lying in a cell for 10 to 90 days, they were released to go on another bender.

Police decided to do something constructive to end this useless drain on their time and the city's money.

Strictly for the Birds

Ex-paratrooper Bob Niles, 22, shows off his homemade "eagleman" suit after completing a jump stunt in Walnut Creek, Calif. Niles bailed out of a plane at 6500 feet, dropped in a free dive to 500 feet, where he opened a retarded chute. At 200 feet he opened a second chute. His leap, for which he was paid $200, was successful except that he missed the stadium where he was supposed to land by two miles.

Jailbirds Fly Coop

By K. R. Subramanian
AP Newsfeatures

BOMBAY—Jailbirds in Bombay may soon become useful, self-supporting and respectable members of society through a special training course.

The director of publicity, government of Bombay, says that the government proposes taking measures to reform prisoners.

The most striking reform, to be introduced shortly, contemplates the treatment of well-behaved prisoners as free men while still serving terms. These prisoners will be sent out of jail in batches to be employed on public works such as road building, construction of tanks and other work. They will be paid for their work and their families will be allowed to join them after a time. They will live in camps run by themselves and will be responsible jointly for seeing that there are no attempts to escape.

Another measure proposed is the setting up of a model farm for imparting agricultural training. The government intends to send the peasant class prisoners to this farm after they have completed a substantial portion of their sentence to receive training in improved methods of agriculture.

A scheme is also worked out for opening a well-equipped central workshop for training prisoners in different technical lines.

Measures already implemented include:

1. Abolition of penal diet and gunny clothing.

2. Payment of wages at a fifth of the labor charges, provided the prisoners finish their daily quota, and full payment for work done over and above their daily task.

3. Removal of restriction on smoking.

4. Release on furlough for short periods of well-behaved, non-habitual prisoners not involved in robbery or dacoity or whose presence is not prejudicial to public peace and tranquility.

Humans Is the Cwaziest People

After watching her public parade by her cage in spring finery, Tia, young orangutan at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, decided she'd spruce up for the new season, too.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Piles Hurt Like Sin! But Now I Grin

Thousands change groans to grins. Use a doctors' formula to relieve discomfort of piles. Sent druggists by noted Thornton & Minor Clinic. Surprising QUICK palliative relief of pain, itch, irritation. Tends to soften, shrink swelling. Use doctors' way. Get tube Thornton & Minor's Rectal Ointment or Rectal Suppositories today. Follow label directions. For sale at all drug stores everywhere.

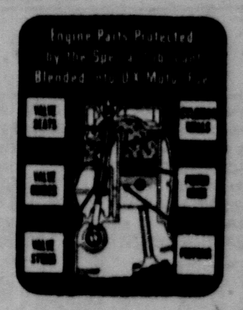
HIGHER ANTI-KNOCK

THE New D-X Lubricating MOTOR FUEL

Now Produced by Catalytic Cracking

There's the secret of higher anti-knock in the New D-X Lubricating Motor Fuel. Now D-X is produced by the famous catalytic cracking process—miracle of modern gasoline chemistry. The result is a motor fuel that takes hills in its stride . . . without knocking. Your new car needs the New D-X. And it's a great tonic for older models.

STILL WITH THE "EXTRA" OF U.C.L.

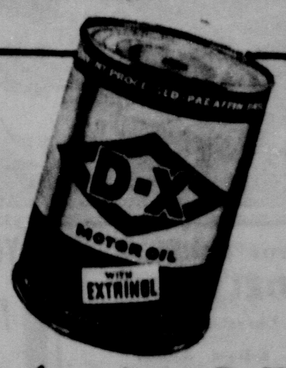


Upper-Cylinder Lubrication is still an important "extra" in the New D-X. But now the valuable protective upper-cylinder lubricant is scientifically blended with a higher anti-knock, high octane gasoline to produce an even better D-X Lubricating Motor Fuel.

Try a tankful today. See for yourself what a difference the New D-X or D-X Ethyl with its higher anti-knock can make in your driving.

MID-CONTINENT PETROLEUM CORPORATION

Now D-X MOTOR OIL CONTAINS EXTRINOL



Extrinol is the "extra" that is added to D-X to make it a tougher, safer, more economical motor oil. Combine the greatest "extras" in motoring by using D-X Lubricating Motor Fuel and D-X Motor Oil with Extrinol. Both give you extra performance and extra protection—at no extra cost.

Worked Too Hard

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 14—(AP)—Thieves sometimes work hard, too.

Clyde Bryant, 29, and his 23-year-old brother, Joe, lugged away 600 pounds of scrap iron from a flour mill here. They sold it to a junk yard for $6.

Today, they began serving 30-day jail sentences.

Language "Melody" Scientific Problem

STOCKHOLM —(AP)— Professor P. G. Lestrade of the University of Capetown arrived in Sweden recently with the avowed desire to learn the "melody" of spoken Sweish. He hoped that mastering the difficult Swedish intonation might help him find the solution to some linguistic riddles in the 533 dialects spoken by African Bantu Negroes.

The Dutch born professor, an expert ethnologist and linguist specializing in the Bantu dialects, spoke fluent Ewedish when he

Bill For 16-Billion Is Voted

House Approves It For Military Use—Navy Fund At $5,018,873,000

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—The House Wednesday night overwhelmingly approved a $16,000,000,000 military money bill, the greatest in American peacetime history, after less than two days of whirlwind debate.

Only one vote was cast against it.

The House rejected the Navy's bid, however, for $309,000,000 extra for the naval air arm.

Rep Cannon (D-Mo) shouted that in the event of war with Russia, it will be Air Force planes, not Navy planes, which will drop atomic bombs on Moscow.

Passage of the omnibus Army-Navy-Air Force measure was by a landslide 271 to one vote Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) was the lone dissenter.

The money is for the fiscal year 1950, starting July 1.

The House voted 125 to 63—almost two to one—to back up the appropriations committee which had turned thumbs down on the Navy's more-money request against cries of protest from the House armed services committee.

As passed, the bill gives the Navy $5,018,873,600.

There was no changes in the Army's allotment of $4,481,834,200. The Air Force get the largest slice of the money—$6,215,609,000.

The total for the three services is $620,735,000 more than President Truman requested in his budget.

In the House, the possibility of raining atomic blows on Russia in case she should launch an attack came in for perhaps the frankest discussion yet heard on capitol hill.

Cannon Speaks Forcibly

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) bluntly told the House that if war with Russia comes, American bombers will have to pulverize every military center in the U. S. S. R. within the first three weeks.

"With the signing of the Atlantic treaty, we have the bases," Cannon said. "All we need now is the planes to deliver the (atomic) bomb.

"Moscow and every other center in Russia must be hit within one week after the war starts."

Then in the next two weeks, he said, all key points must be wiped out. Otherwise, he said, Russia would occupy all Europe in 60 days.

Cannon is chairman of the House appropriations committee which wrote the 16-billion dollar bill for Army, Navy and Air Force spending in fiscal 1950.

The Missouri Democrat spoke out in defense of the committee's action in cutting Navy funds to build up the Air Force.

If war breaks out, he shouted, it will be Air Force bombers—not Navy planes—that will deliver the atom bomb to Moscow.

But Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House armed services committee, fighting to tack on $300,000,000 for the Navy's air arm, told the House that Cannon's committee had "cut the very vitals out of the Navy."

To this Cannon retorted that the Navy's aircraft carriers can send out planes capable of striking targets only 500 to 700 miles away. And the carriers themselves, he said, would be "like sitting ducks" if they tried to move into such close bombing range.

When They Spill the Beans in China, It's Serious

Children and housewives scrambling for beans spilled by a passing truck onto a Shanghai street point up the value placed on food in strife-ridden China. Ceiling Is Set On Program Of Recovery

Conferees Place Figure For Next Year $5,580,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Senate and House conferees Wednesday night set a $5,580,000,000 ceiling on next year's European recovery program after Marshall plan chief Paul G. Hoffman said actual funds might be cut as a result of price drops in this country.

The Senate and House previously had passed somewhat differing bills to continue the economic aid program another 15 months. The Senate had approved the full administration request of $5,580,000,000 while the House figure was $200,000,000 less. The conferees were named to iron out the differences.

Expect Quick Approval

The agreement, which is expected to get quick approval from both House and Senate, provides:

$1,150,000,000 for the Economic Cooperation administration until June 30, this year.

$4,280,000,000 to run the Marshall plan through June 30, 1950.

The measure als authorizes an additional sum of $150,000,000 for guaranteeing that American businessmen can convert into dollars their earnings in foreign investments.

The conference group denied President Truman only one important request: That ECA be given authority to make long-term contracts totaling $150,000,000.

ECA boss Hoffman earlier told a news conference it is "entirely possible" that reductions can be made in next year's Marshall plan costs in view of price changes here.

Although Hoffman did not say so, any such savings on next year's multi-billion dollar economic aid project might be used to help defray costs of the military aid program the administration wants to back up the Atlantic defense alliance.

Hoffman told a news conference that some of the recent price drops in this country were taken into consideration when the Economic Cooperation administration drew up its requests last fall for $5,580,000,000 to run the Marshal Plan another 15 months.

"But it is entirely possible," that a recalculation might disclose savings that can be made as a result of further changes in price."

Setback Given Israel's Hopes

Full Review To Join U. N. On Rights To Join Required

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—Israel's hopes for early admission to the United Nations were dashed Wednesday by a surprise decision for full review of the Zionist state's right to join.

The U. N. Assembly voted 31 to 18 to study the Israeli application in the 58-nation political committee. Nine countries did not vote. Earlier the Assembly voted 46 to 7, with three absentions, to put the question of admitting Israel on the Assembly calendar of this spring session.

To gain admission, Israel must get a two-thirds majority of those present and voting in the Assembly. It may be mid-May before the bid comes up for a final vote.

The decision meant that the Assembly majority wants full information from Israel on these points:

1. Israeli designs on Jerusalem. Lebanon's Charles Malik said Israeli leaders have declared they want at least part of Jerusalem as Israel's capital. The U. N. wants to internationalize Jerusalem and the Holy places of Israel.

2. Treatment of Arab refugees, reported to total between 800,000 and 1,000,000. They left fighting areas during the Palestine war.

3. Result of Israel's inquiry into the assassination in Jerusalem of Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator. Sweden's delegate Axel Gjores said his government has received no report on the investigation it asked Israel to make. Aubrey Eban, Israeli delegate, told reporters later the report would be delivered to Swedes here in a few days but that the culprits have not been found.

4. What does Israel plan to do about the differences between her present borders and the boundaries laid down in the U. N. Palestine partition plan of Nov. 29, 1947?

Injured By Fall Of 'Phone Pole

Lester Dittmer, of Smithton, received a painful but not serious injury about 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when a telephone pole on which he was working fell with him. He hit the bumper of a truck in his fall, receiving a severe laceration on the right hip which caused considerable loss of blood.

He was treated at the Holtzen-Siegel clinic in Smithton, and later admitted to Bothwell hospital for further care. He was brought to Sedalia by Dr. P. V. Siegel.

He was a member of a crew working south of Smithton on a community project to repair the telephone lines in that vicinity, served by the United Telephone company.

One for the Road

Model Sunny Lucas gives her 1-year-old son Chris a bath in a new type of plastic baby bath tub in Chicago. The portable tub deflates and folds into a diaper case—just the thing for traveling around with baby.

Hal Boyle Says

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—To Harry S. Truman, Blair House, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

I have a small free idea to help you win world peace.

You aren't planning to have the annual Easter Egg rolling party for children on the White House lawn this year. But why not hold an international egg rolling contest there for world diplomats?

They'd love it. Great men love games as much as children, but their games often leave people crying at the end. Such as war, the ancient sport of kings. Why not give the great men a simple game they can play in pure fun.

Alert the fly boys of your airforce. Send your new B-36 bombers east and west and north and south to all the lands of the earth. Have them bring back the leaders of those lands, large or little—the victors, the vanquished, the bystanders.

Better Hurry

If you hurry, you can get some here by Friday. Then tell them:

"Boys, every nation that ever lived has a period it sets aside to celebrate peace. They do it in different ways, and many pray to different gods. But they all have the same idea in mind.

"This is the day our own Prince of Peace died for mankind. And Sunday is the anniversary of the day he rose again, and thereby gave us hope. I want you to celebrate it with us in the way of our people."

Well, Harry, boys are boys. You might have to warn them that anybody caught making horse trades on the back steps would be ducked in the White House pool. But I think they'd go along with you. Everybody is looking for a vacation from worry these days.

Show 'Em A Good Time

Show 'em a good time. Stack the joint with caviar, ham, lamb, beef and hot dog sandwiches. Pass around the bourbon and vodka, the wine and pernod. Bring them all in the kitchen Saturday night. Make 'em stay up late dyeing Easter eggs. And dye the eggs with patterns of their own countries and their heroes.

After they fall asleep, let the secret service men hide the eggs around the White House lawn. Bright and early next morning route them out of bed for the great egg hunt.

And let the people of America mass outside the gates and watch while the great men frolic like schoolboys about the lawn, searching for eggs.

Pick The Winner

When the game is over, pick the ten that have found the most eggs. Put each of the ten behind a huge ostrich egg labeled "peace." At a signal the ten can then start furiously rolling an egg toward the finish line fifty yards away. The first chieftain across the line with his ostrich egg intact—that's the winner.

Call all the hot, sweating, laughing leaders into the house, crack open the hen's eggs dyed with the maps of all countries. Chop up the contents and serve every one a portion of international egg salad.

Then you make your announcement. Suppose the man who won the ostrich egg derby was Joe stalin.

Give Prizes

"Joe," you could say, "You're the winner, and every winner ought to have a prize. I suggest —and I think every one else here will agree with me—that it be the south pole. For one year it is yours to do with as you will. You can propagandize the penguins, you can collect all the taxes there.

"But a winner usually throws a party, too, Joe. Suppose we all get together at your house next year, and play a game in the Kremlin? Any peaceful game your people like—except Russian roulette. And the winner will get the right to rule the south pole for the following year, and teach the penguins anything he wants to.

"What do you say, Joe? Let's make it an annual event!"

And what could Joe, or any other leader, say—but "yse"? That is what the peoples of all lands want—peace at the top. Wars rarely start at the bottom.

It might be rough on the penguins, Harry, but the rest of the world would love it. Let's roll those peace eggs.

Sincerely, Hal Boyle.

"BRAN-ANA" MUFFINS

Quick-easy recipe for combining the moist goodness of bananas with nut-sweet Kellogg's All-Bran. Delicious!

- ¼ cup shortening
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 cup mashed, fully-ripe bananas
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt

1. Blend shortening and sugar until creamy; add egg and beat well.
2. Add All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Stir in bananas.
3. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt; add to first mixture stirring only until combined.
4. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in preheated moderately hot oven (400°F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

Yield: 12 muffins—2¼" in diameter.

TEEN TALK

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

Your best beau probably is used to that lovely hostess—his mother. He watches mother charm the guests with great conversational wit, seers her concoct hors d'oeuvres with the aplomb of a Cordon Bleu scholar and pour tea with finishing school finesse. She does everything beautifully and with daintily manicured hands while every curl of her coiffure stays put.

Then one day he watches you play hostess.

You retire to the kitchen with a mass of pots, pans and cook books, and no organized menu. Your guests arrive just when you are in the middle of whipping up the hollandaise sauce or the whipped cream or the roquefort cheese spread.

Now where were you when you answered the doorbell? You can't remember whether you've added the sugar, or was it the salt or the onion.

Naturally, if you've left these things to the last moment, you are not wearing your party clothes. Or perhaps you are wearing them and you are slightly egg-splattered.

After your guests arrive, you begin to wonder what to do with them. Why don't somebody do soomething, you wonder? Play a game? Tell a story? Anything but please pep up your party so you can run back and forth to your culinary chores.

Of course your beau will be disturbed at your lack of foresight and initiative. He won't stop to think that Mother went through all this when she was a girl and that it took her 20 years to be The Perfect Hostess with her well-planned kitchen. He'll just visualize you as The Imperfect Hostess . . . and after all he's going to have to entertain all those big executives some day.

If you want to learn to be a good hostess, start today. Every girl should be groomed for the hostess job even if she never marries. The most successful career girls always are excellent hostesses.

In her book "The Entertaining Lady" (Putnam) Vera Bloom covers the subject pretty thoroughly. She stresses the art of conversation and says:

"You can imagine a party without flowers . . . but you just can't imagine a party without conversation."

She advises that you get pally without getting personal and that the great conversation-leveler is common experiences.

"I hope I didn't lie in the sun too long. How long do you think you should the first day?" This is live talk, she says, and no matter how inconsequential it may be, it's worth a dozen anecdotes or reminiscences.

When food, travel and personalities break down as conversational bridges, Miss Bloom suggests you switch to everyday ones such as newspapers, magazines, books, radio, new plays, and the movies. When you touch on something he particularly enjoys discussing like music, mountain climbing or gardening, concencentrate on that topic for a while.

It is just as simple as it sounds. Everybody enjoys talking about things they like. All you have to do is draw them out. They'll surely cooperate if you give them a chance.

You don't have to be a bossy hostess "who insists on steering conversation even when the guests are heading in directions of their own choosing" or the eager beaver hostess who jerks from one to the other saying "But you're not eating!" advises Miss Bloom.

You'll have to learn to cope with any emergency. This doesn't mean that you've got to break a glass, just because your guest broke one. "Foolishness," says Miss Bloom. You can't put your guest at ease by saying "Don't worry—it's nothing." Then the matter can be dropped. But even if it is your mother's priceless Venetian glass get that worried look off your face.

Miss Bloom believes that all successful parties have one thing in common—they just seem to happen. If you've organized everything in advance, you can put your guests at ease the moment they arrive.

So please get acquainted with the kitchen before your party. Consult Mom or Auntie about your menu a few days before the big event. That'll find entertaining is the easiest thing imaginable when you've mastered a few tricks.

That Easter Ham . . . . And Trimmin's

Traditional Dish — Ham and Easter Eggs.

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

If you are planning the traditional ham for Easter you'll find the cooked, ready-to-eat variety easiest of all to prepare — and delicious. All you have to do is to heat it in a moderate oven, counting on about ten minutes per pound if the meat is at room temperature. I emphasize the point about room temperature because it's easy to forget that if the ham comes straight out of the refrigerator you must allow more time—as I know from experience! The ten-minutes-per-pound is for ready-to-eat ham weighing 10 to 12 pounds, or for half a ready-to-eat ham weighing 6 to 8 lbs.

As an accompaniment to the meat — whether it's ham, tongue, beef, or lamb — serve the delectable vegetable casserole pictured. Here's the recipe:

Vegetable Casserole

Ingredients: 1 pound small yellow onions (about 10), ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon ground ginger, 1½ cups milk, 1 three-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms, 1 12-ounce package quick frozen green peas, grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Peel onions and cook until barely tender in boiling water to cover, about 15 minutes. Meanwhile melt butter or margarine in saucepan over moderate heat. Remove from heat. Add flour, salt, pepper, and ginger and blend well. Add milk and broth from mushroom can gradually, stirring with a whisk after each addition until smooth. Return to moderate heat and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Drain onions and arrange in shallow 1-quart baking dish, about 10x6 inches. Sprinkle with the peas, that have been defrosted just enough to break apart if necessary and the drained mushrooms. Pour sauce over vegetables and stir lightly with fork to distribute sauce evenly. Sprinkle lightly with grated Parmesan cheese and bake in a moderate (375 degree F.) oven until lightly browned and thoroughly hot, about 30 minutes. (The peas should be cooked barely tender in this time.) Makes 4 servings.

Vegetable Casserole — Serve it with the ham.

The Crucifixion, an engraving by Albrecht Durer, 1511.

"And when they were come to a place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand and the other on the left. Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."—Saint Luke 23, 33-34.

Wanted: Glamor Jobs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Every little girl is presumed to go through a period during which she is determined to be an actress, just like the little boys at some point are determined to be cops or firemen.

But being an actress is just one of the so-called "glamor professions" nowadays. The others include radio, television, modeling, advertising, book publishing, magazines and—you should pardon the expression—newspaper work.

Every one of them presents a united front to discourage young hopefuls from trying to storm their portals. This is probably caused by necessity and the knowledge that there are invariably more ambitious youngsters wanting in than there are jobs to fill.

The movies have been trying for years to tell people about their slim chances of being "discovered," and citing statistics to show one's slim chances of even eating regularly while waiting for the big break. Now along comes the federal government itself with some statistics to show that unemployment in radio is many times greater than it is among the working population generally.

Newspaper jobs have been tight for a long time, and it's a tough racket to get started in. The same holds with magazines and cooks. Advertising always has more applications for jobs than there are jobs around. Modeling is probably the hardest of them all to break into.

All this is very discouraging to youngsters fresh out of high schools and colleges.

The bulk of the girls buckle down and learn typing and shorthand. Tradition says that these two items are indispensable for a young woman with her way to make in the world. And, she reasons, if I've got to make pot-hooks and get out the boss' mail, why shouldn't I start doing it in some phase of activity that has been sold to me as romantic and glamorous?

They are right, too. I think that the fault lies in the fact that no one has gone to much trouble to make many of the other fields of business attractive. What's the matter with insurance—except the name? Or banking?

Although radio has been discouraging ambitious young people for quite a time, one sees considerable public complaining about radio's failure to develop new talent. How are you going to develop new talent if you consistently beat it away from the door with a stick?

Movie people warn sagely about unemployment problems in Hollywood—and then we read stories about how Bubbles Kilroy was sitting having a soda at the corner drug store and the big producer saw her and next day she was a famous star.

It's probably a good thing most people do not take discouragement in their stride and believe what's told them.

But the main point is that there should be more emphasis on the advantages found in all the many types of business young people will find. The simplest way to attract the beginning employes would be to dress jobs up in the fancy trappings which lure them today toward the ones referred to by the women's magazines as "glamor jobs."

The trappings are only bait anyway. Once you've got your teeth in a job, you haven't much time to contemplate what a wonderful creature you are.

Lean Year Ahead

LONDON, April 13—(AP)—Another lean year stretched ahead for Britons today—a year of higher food prices and skimpy tax relief.

The House of Commons gave overwhelming approval yesterday to the Labor government's $15,304,000,000 budget for 1949-50. The vote was 302-3, with all Conservatives and a handful of Laborites abstaining. The three negative votes were cast by Independents.

The budget calls for higher prices for rationed meat, cheese, butter and oleomargarine.

Bill to Stop Dependents From Hoarding Money

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—A bill to stop old people from hoarding their money and drawing old age pensions at the same time was introduced in the Missouri house Wednesday.

It would let the division of welfare get back assistance paid an old person who actually did not need the pension.

It was introduced by Rep. Roy W. McGhee (D) of Wayne county.

More than three fourths of the ties men buy are of the bold variety despite the howls of pain over gifts frequently heard from men after Christmas.

Tavern Owner Beats Intruder

ST. LOUIS, April 14—(AP)—An AWOL soldier was disarmed and beaten into unconsciousness by the proprietor when he attempted to rob a tavern in suburban St. Ann's village Tuesday.

The would-be robber, hospitalized with severe head and face cuts, identified himself as Cpl. Kenneth A. Jones, 32, and said he was absent without leave from Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

William Cissell, the 198-pound tavern operator, said "I always figured that in case of a holdup, if I had a 50-50 chance to get the guy, I'd fight."

While en route to the hospital in an ambulance, Jones said: "I guess I picked the wrong place. That shows what drink will do for you."

Wheat Spoilage Due Excessive Moisture

PONCA CITY, Okla., April 14—(AP)—Thousands of bushels of wheat stored in Oklahoma have spoiled because of excess moisture.

An elevator operator at Cherokee reported he had lost 160,000 bushels of wheat because the grain was harvested while still too wet.

It was estimated state elevators will lose thousands of dollars through the spoilage. However, it was pointed out that while the wheat is not good for human consumption, it still can be used for livestock feed.

The price a bushel for wheat now is $2.05. The spoiled wheat is expected to bring $1.50.

New Change in Russian Cabinet

MOSCOW, April 14—(AP)—A new change in the Russian cabinet Wednesday relieved I. I. Malyshev as minister of geology and named P. A. Zakharov to succeed him.

No explanation of the shift was given in the brief announcement published in the morning newspapers. Malyshev had held the post since June 14, 1946.

Oppose Five Day Week

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—The Missouri House refused to give tentative approval Wednesday to a bill to put employes of second class counties on a five-day, 40-hour week.

The vote sending the measure back to the calendar for a new try later was 46 to 48.

OK Bill to do Without Women Bar Tenders

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—A bill to do away with women bar tenders gained approval of a House committee Tuesday night.

By Rep. Daniel Curran (D) of St. Louis, the measure says anyone licensed to sell intoxicating liquor in the state shall have his license taken away if he lets a woman tend bar.

But the bill would let the wife or sister of a license holder be a bartender.

Stamps In The News

By Syd Kronish

Two more U. S. commemoratives are now in the hopper. Congress has passed bills authorizing the issuance of postage stamps honoring the 300th anniversary of Annapolis, Md., and the 200th anniversary of the founding of Alexandria, Va. The latter will be a 6-cent airmail.

SOVIET Russia has issued two unique sets of stamps. One set of two commemorates "twenty-five years without Lenin." Pictured is the Lenin Mausoleum in Red Square, Moscow. The dates 1924-1949 are prominent in the scrool border above the illustration. The values are 40 kopeks and 1 ruble.

The other set of two honors the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the Dezhnev Strait and Cape. The promontory, sometimes called East Cape, is located at the eastern extremity of Siberia across the water from Alaska. The channel and cape were named in honor of the Cossak Dezhnev who crossed the strait before its exploration by Bering. The values are also 40 kopecs and 1 ruble.

DENMARK will issue a new postage stamp in connection with the centenary of the Danish Constitution on June 5. The design has not yet been announced but the denomination is expected to be 20 ore.

* * *

BRAZIL has issued two new stamps honoring the 300th anniversary of the Battle of Guarapes.

The 60 cruzeiros blue shows a battle scene and the 1.20 cruzeiros pink depicts an old fort. These large stamps, sad to relate, are poorly printed and unattractive, as can be seen from the above illustration.

THE non-postage poster stamp series put forth by the Saratoga Springs Music Festival Committee has met with huge success throughout the country so far, says its director, F. Charles Adler.

The bi-colored stamps illustrate historic landmarks of Saratoga as well as famous music personalities.

This series marks the first time that poster stamps have been utilized to finance a music festival. Requests for the stamps have been received from 337 cities and towns in 45 states as well as a number of foreign countries including France, Great Britain, Norway, Canada and the Philippines.

THE awaited Ceylon stamps which commemorate the first anniversary of that country's independence have arrived in this country. The 5-cent and 25-cent bear portraits of Prime Minister D. S. Senaayake. The 4-cents and 15-cent's picture the Lion Flag, Ceylon's national emblem.

Fined For Taking Excessive Interest

KANSAS CITY, April 14—(AP)—Five men were fined $100 each Tuesday after pleading guilty to accepting excessive interest on small loans.

Prosecutor Henry H. Fox, Jr., said some borrowers had paid interest rates of 58 to 176 per cent a year on small loans. The maximum legal rate on such loans is 2 per cent a month.

Sheriff's officers arrested seven men in raids on four downtown loan offices Feb. 26.

Those fined were Joseph E. Drew, Chester L. Eastwood, Bernard J. McNamara, Hal Fogel and C. E. Glass. Preliminary hearings are pending for Isadore Margolis and Louis Press on the same charges.

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts

COPYRIGHT BY GREENBERG: PUBLISHER
DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Roger, the problem lodger, lives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts in Great Falls, Mont., during the wartime housing shortage. Roger has taken over the house, wrecked the Roberts sedan and made the home the Annex of the airbase. His latest escapade was to invite a party of 20 from the Officer Club to an after-midnight party at which the house was left in a mess.

* * *

XVII

I WAS still frowning a few days later, working my wrinkles deeper into the fertile ground of my brow, when Roger—he had telsphonitis—called, he said, to ask wha. I was up to.

"Not a thing," I fell into his trap.

"I've just run into a good deal for you," he said. "Met a chap who's introducing a fine line of cosmetics. He's giving away free facials. I told him I'd ask you if you'd like one."

"What's the use of my bothering with skin foods and such," I argued. "You know I'm not the type."

There was a suggestion of a pause on Roger's part. Then he intimated—oh, ever so tactfully—that possibly at my age it was a good thing to think a little more about preserving oneself.

Something about the deal sounded so phony that I repeated, "You said it was free, didn't you?"

"Absolutely free."

"Well, send him over."

He wasn't a dapper little Frenchman; he was King Kong himself, built square like a football tackle, with low-growing thick black hair, teeth as large and yellow as an elk's. Sheer terror gripped me; I wondered whether he knew his own strength. If he got to erasing the wrinkles on my throat, he could erase me, too, and never know he'd done it.

He suggested I sit at a dressing table; he wanted me to watch the treatment in a mirror.

King Kong bound my hair with a towel, pinned another around my shoulders. He applied a generous dose of cleansing cream and wiped it off my face. My cheeks remained as pink as roses. He scrutinized me closely.

"It's lipstick. Indelible lipstick," I explained. "I get tired of having rouge blow off so I've been using a touch of lipstick. Like cream rouge. You know."

* * *

KING KONG regarded me thoughtfully before he got down to work. He applied another sort of cream. I'm giving him something to contend with," I thought, glad of it. I believe in a fair fight. I've never seen such hands in my life. Like a bunch of bananas. Now I saw me, now I didn't. Every time his paws passed over my face, I did a total eclipse. But he was gentle. And he didn't scratch. So much creaming must have kept his skin soft.

I gathered from his sorrowful expression that I was in a bad way. He gave me hope, however. "Skin is made up of tiny overlapping layers like shingles on a roof," he said. "When you rub them every which way with coarse towels . . ." I glanced down at my best linen.

He opened a jar of cream and held it toward me. "Take a little of this on your finger tips. Rub it into the palms of your hands. When it is well worked up, apply it to your face, beginning at the forehead and rubbing it in with long, gentle strokes."

My strokes were long, if not gentle. I drew my hands from forehead to chin.

"No! No!" he cried. "Cheek strokes go up in circles toward the ears."

King Kong handed me a batch of tissue. "Now wipe your face and throat carefully." While I wiped, circling half-noseward and half-earward so I'd be sure to be right 50 per cent of the time, I saw more jars being opened.

"This is a beauty mask. I believe Madame needs this." Again I detected that note of sorrow.

* * *

KING KONG was prepared to offer me a bargain. In order to introduce this superior product, his company was willing to sacrifice price right down to the cost basis. He could sell me trial-size jars of the entire line for the absurdly low price of $25.

"Twenty-five dollars!" I could buy a lifetime supply for that amount. The dime stores still sold cosmetics. I was their best customer. They'd miss me if I stocked up with $25 worth all at once. In an agony of suspense I tried to decide what was the least amount I could decently buy. Free facial! But I was at that uncertain age (I hoped nobody was certain) when it was time I took steps before it was too late entirely.

King Kong tapped the mask to feel whether it was set. I closed my eyes at the sight of those oversize hands blotting out my face. I'd buy what he suggested. I knew that now.

He removed the mask; deftly touched me with powder base, mascara, rouge, lipstick, face powder.

"Ah, Madame!" he exclaimed. "A Dresden doll, is she not?"

Well, a doll anyway.

I was watching for Roger when he arrived home for dinner. "What a transformation!" he exclaimed. "Pretty. My dear, you're ravishing."

I passed up the compliments. "Where did you meet that man?"

Roger colored a little. "We were having a drink in the same bar last night."

"What did he give you to sick him on me?"

This time Roger definitely blushed. "Why uh . . . he uh—"

"Roger," I said firmly, "get this straight. Slickers don't need a shill to catch me. Don't you ever give my name to another one as long as you live." I frowned away all the good of my treatment; and I must have looked as stern as I felt, for he never did again. He had other, more subtle ways of taking me.

No Limit on Debate in the Senate; House Does Have

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—I'd be a pretty puzzled pigeon if I'd been sitting out in the middle of the United States the past two weeks, trying to figure out Congress.

The talkative Senate, with only 96 members, took two weeks to approve the Marshall plan for Europe for another year; but the House with 435 members took only about 17 hours.

For those two weeks the Senate spent almost every minute haggling over the Marshall plan; except for the 17 hours on the plan, the House used the two weeks to race through a lot of other things.

The reason: In the Senate there is no limit on debate; in the House there is.

Gabbiness Limited

Of course, if House debate were not limited, its 435 members could use up a whole session debating one bill. So gabbiness has to be limited there.

The Senate, whose 96 dignified members bend over backwards being polite to one another, wants no gag on talking and feels it still can get its work done.

That's debatable. If the Senate keeps up its present slow rate, it's doubtful much of the program President Thurman promised the voters last November can get through. But, then, it's doubtful much of it would be passed anyway.

Altogether now the Senate has been talking about six weeks. Except for a couple of days spent on passing new rent controls, the Senate has used those weeks on just two main subjects: Civil Rights and the Marshall plan. Everything else had to wait.

Just Used up Time

It used up between three weeks and a month in a filibuster on the Civil Rights program. That was shoved aside in the end and probably suffered a mortal blow for the rest of this session.

Then, after a brief pause to vote for 15 months more of rent controls, the Senate turned to the Marshall plan and talked till last weekend.

When it got into the plan there were long discourses that touched only remotely on it. And there were almost endless discourses on amendments, of which there were plenty.

Amendments are changes which a senator suggests be made in a bill. For instance, Senator Taft, Ohio Republican, offered one to cut Marshall plan spending 10 per cent. That was defeated — for the time being, anyway.

Talked on Armaments

So, besides talking for days on the Marshall plan itself, the Senate talked for days on the amendments.

It was different in the House. There amendments were offered, too, but on some of them each congressman who wanted to talk was limited to about 50 seconds.

But even after all the talk in both houses, the last word hasn't been said on the Marshall plan.

For all both houses did was approve letting the Marshall plan continue for another year. But —and this is important — it has not voted any money to keep it going.

It will get around to voting on the money in a few weeks. That will certainly mean more Senate debate and more proposals to cut down the money for it. The House, of course, will do a quicker job.

Charge Violating Of Alliance

LONDON, April 14—(AP)—Britain accused Russia Wednesday of breaching their 20-year friendship alliance.

She said Russia had violated every clause in the Potsdam accord relating to the alliance.

The note, a reply to Russia's protest against the North Atlantic Alliance, was made public as a diplomatic specialist in German affairs reported that Russia has made a new conditional and informal offer to lift the Berlin blockade.

The informant, who declined to be identified even as to nationality, said the Russians recently launched feelers through Polish representatives in Berlin on a deal to lift the blockade if four-power negotiations on Germany would be resumed.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, said there was no indication the Russians were planning to lift the blockade and that he was asking for more planes to strengthen the airlift.

One of his political advisers said the U. S. position always has been willingness to discuss German issues "if the blockade is lifted—but the blockade has to be lifted first."

Some western diplomats have expected Russia might make some such gesture at reopening the blockade as an answer to the North Atlantic Alliance and a new British-French-American agreement on the powers of a west German government.

Confirm Smith Appointees

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—Senate confirmed Wednesday Gov. Forrest Smith's appointment of two members to the state cosmetology board.

They are Mrs. Jessie Worthen of Shelbina to replace Mrs. Sally Ball, for a term ending July 1, 1952, and Mrs. Velma Gentry of Jefferson City to replace Mrs. Letha Kidwell, for a term to last to July 1, 1949.

The cosmetology board was in the news last week when it suddenly fired nine of its employes.

The Senate also confirmed the appointment of Charles P. Orchard, Richmond Heights Democrat, as chairman of the state athletic commission. He replaces Floyd W. Jones.

The Senate also confirmed P. G. Wightman, Bethany Republican, and Randall S. Jessee, Democrat of North Kansas City as members of the athletic commission.

Wightman succeeds John J. Robison, Jessee succeeds William H. Herring. All have indefinite terms.

In other confirmations, the Senate approved:

John J. Griffin of St. Louis as trustee for the state board of training schools to succeed Alfred Fleischman for a term ending July 1, 1952 and J. S. Williamson of Columbia reappointed, until July 1, 1954.

Ralph Vieman, of Bourbon, member of the board of trustees for the federal soldiers home at St. James, to replace W. E. Barton for a term ending Feb. 1, 1953; E. E. Martin, Salem, trustee at the soldiers home until Feb. 1, 1953, to replace L. N. Coffman; and W. W. Jackson of St. James as trustee until April 10, 1951, replacing C. Cicero Ogle.

Proposals Made For Vets Bonus

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—Spokesmen for the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars urged approval of a bonus for Missouri veterans of World War II. They appeared before a House committee on Wednesday night.

J. C. Bosch of Jefferson City, adjutant-quartermaster of the Missouri VFW, said a bonus should be paid now and not ten years from now.

When asked how much of a bonus his group favored, Bosch answered: "The VFW is on record favoring a $400 maximum for overseas service and a $300 maximum for stateside duty. I am sure the $500 for overseas and $400 for stateside service provided in the bill would meet approval."

John O. Newberry of Jefferson City, representing the American Legion, read a telegram from John Jeffries of Hannibal, state Legion commander. In his telegram Jeffries said the Legion favored a bonus plan to be paid for by taxes on luxury items and a supplemental income tax.

Rep. Jim C. McAdow (D) of Buchanan county, chief sponsor of the bonus proposal, told the committee the bonus should be many times the amount he proposed.

McAdow's plan is contained in a proposed constitutional amendment. After passage by the legislature, it would be put to a vote of the people.

The bonus would be paid for by taxes on items such as tobacco, jewelry, sporting goods, mechanical amusement devices and vending machines, beer and intoxicating liquor and on corporations.

Opponents to the plan will be heard next week, Rep. Tom A. Shockley (D) of Pulaski county, committee chairman, said.

Cleanup on Debris of Quake

Eight Dead as Estimates on The Property Loss Is Diminished

SEATTLE, April 14—(AP)—The Pacific northwest's worst earthquake left eight dead and more than 60 injured today, but damage estimates dropped sharply as rubble was cleared from the frightening temblor that hit the region at noontime yesterday.

An army of laborers, plumbers and electricians dug through debris and found much of the damage minor.

A survey by cities in the major damage area placed loss at around six million.

A few minutes less than 24 hours after the jarring jolt hit the northwest coast a second, apparently minor, tremor occurred in eastern Washington. But Dr. Eljo E. Vesanen, University of Washington seismologist, said history of northwest quakes indicated it was "extremely unlikely" another major one would occur soon.

Vesanen said a sudden shifting of a fault 40 to 10 miles beneath the earth's surface about 90 miles southwest of Seattle probably caused yesterday's quake.

Many Narrow Escapes

Sixty-two persons were injured badly enough to require hospitalization. Countless others were scratched and bruised. Everybody who had a narrow escape at noon yesterday was admiring the neighbor who had a closer call.

In hard-hit Olympia, where two died, all but a dozen downtown buildings were permitted to reopen and business was almost back to normal on capitol hill. Mayor Ernest Mallory estimated damage at around $2,000,000.

Seattle, with two dead from heart attacks, found the damage estimates dwindling to Mayor William F. Devin's "less than $2,000,000." The Longview-Kelso area in southwest Washington, which counted one dead at Castle Rock, said the cost would not exceed $125,000. Centralia-Chehalis also to the southwest, had one death and placed the damage at half a million.

Red Cross officials said at Tacoma, where one died, the damage would be near $1,000,000. In neighboring Puyallup the cost was placed at $250,000 to $500,000. A suicide at Tacoma may have been prompted by terror of the quake, said coroner Paul Mellinger.

Old Structures Hard Hit

Bricks and masonry torn from shaken buildings, shattered windows, tumbled chimneys, broken water mains and minor fires contributed to the damage total.

Elderly buildings in downtown Tacoma and Seattle were hardest hit. Newer structures and most modern stores generally came through the shock with minor damage.

The main damage area roughly 125 miles north and south, 60 miles east and west, with Seattle at the upper edge and Longview at the lower. University of Washington seismologists placed the epicenter 90 miles southwest of Seattle, in the southern tip of the Olympic mountains.

A new earthquake jar was felt at Pullman, Wash., today, some 400 miles from the Puget Sound area.

There were no reports of damage, but the jar was strong enough to be felt generally.

Slays Wife Then Wounds Self

HUNNEWELL, Mo., April 14—(AP)—A school teacher was shot in the back and killed today and her husband, named by officers as the slayer, then fired a blast through his left shoulder.

The victim was Mrs. Lola B. Whitecotton, 61, a teacher in the Hunnewell school.

Her husband, Tilden Whitecotton, 64, a son of the late J. H. Whitecotton, former state senator, is in a Hannibal hospital. His condition was not regarded as critical, attendants said.

Tom Spaulding, Monroe city marshal, and state highway patrolmen, said the shooting took place shortly after noon while Mrs. Whitecotton was in the kitchen preparing the noon meal for the couple.

They said she had been shot in the back with a charge from a 12 gauge shotgun.

Whitecotton, Spaulding said, then fired a blast into his left shoulder after discharging one barrel into the ceiling.

Spaulding said Whitecotton told officers he was despondent over the thought that his wife furnished the couple's support.

Whitecotton retired from farming three years ago because of ill health. Last week, Spaulding said, he was missing from home, but later was found at Neosho, Mo.

Hudson Reduces Prices of Autos

DETROIT, April 14—(AP)—Hudson motor car company today became the seventh automotive concern to cut its prices in the last two months. Reductions of $15 to $100 on various Hudson models go into effect at midnight tonight.

General Motors, Ford, Kaiser, Frazer, Nash, Willys-Overland and Austin Motor Car Co. Ltd. were the other concerns to slash their prices in recent weeks.

Claude Yankee Printer, Died On Thursday

Member I. T. U. Over 50 Years; Ill Several Weeks

Claude Michael Yankee, 616 Wilkerson street, a printer for more than 50 years and employed at the Sedalia Democrat since 1906, died at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning at Bothwell hospital where he had been a patient since April 2.

Claude M. Yankee

Mr. Yankee was born July 31, 1883 in Green Ridge, a son of Michael and Eunice Elizabeth Yankee. He started to work at the Sedalia Printing company on April 22, 1898, under W. F. Waller and learned his trade under the late Ralph Manker, remaining with that company until June, 1907, when he went to Guthrie, Okla. He was employed there a year-and-a-half and returned to Sedalia in 1908 entering the employ of the Sedalia Democrat Company, where, with the exception of eighteen months when he was with The Capital then owned by John Swanger and C. M. Harrison, he was employed until his retirement on June 1, 1947. But even then he did not give up his work as a printer entirely. He promised that he would help out whenever he was needed and there was hardly a week that he wasn't called in on his old job at least one day and maybe two.

On June 30, 1909 he was married in Sedalia to Miss Bertha Dill, who survives him.

Mr. Yankee was a member of the First Christian church, Granite lodge, No. 272, A. F. & A. M., Pettis Chapter, Order of Eastern Star and the International Typographical Union, Sedalia local No. 206.

Preceding him in death were his parents and two brothers, Norman and Earl Yankee.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Christian church with the Rev. L. Ward McCreary to officiate.

Music will be in charge of Mrs. H. O. Foraker.

The body will be taken from the McLaughlin funeral chapel at 10 o'clock this morning to the family home Friday where it will remain until the funeral hour.

Tries to Write Name Of Slayer in Blood

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., April 14—(AP)—Mortally wounded by several pocket knife thrusts, elderly Mrs. Mary Graves dipped her finger in her own blood tonight to start spelling out the name of her assailant.

The 73-year-old victim, too weak to speak, traced the letters J-O-while police and her common-law husband, Louis D' Augustino, watched. Then she died.

D'Augustino then led the officers to the nearby shack of his son, Joseph, 39. Police said the younger man was burning a blood-stained shirt in the stove when they found him.

Assistant Macomb County Prosecutor John Matthews said Joseph D'Augustino admitted the woman's slaying and was charged with first degree murder. He was taken to the county jail.

Matthews quoted D'Augustino as saying he stabbed Mrs. Graves during a quarrel two hours before she was found dying in her home just east of Mt. Clemens.

Macon Woman Be 105 Years Old Today

MACON, Mo., April 14—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Lockhart will celebrate her 105th birthday anniversary at a party here tomorrow.

Women residents of Macon have been invited to honor Mrs. Lockhart who is totally blind. She came to Macon from Russell county, Ky., when she was five years old.

Significance Of Passover Celebrations

Theme of Talk by Episcopal Rector To Club Members

The significance of Passover celebrations and interpretation of the symbolism in the Feast was the theme of a talk by the Rev. Warren L. Botkin, Calvary Episcopal church, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker delineated those portions of the feast which included: Matstsah, indicative of Judah's obedience to the command of using unleavened bread at the Passover celebrations; a roasted or hard boiled egg which is emblematic of the sacrifice brought on every day of the Passover week during the erection of the Temple in Jerusalem; a roasted shank-bone to memorialize the paschal lamb; Charoseth, once a condiment made by mixing scraped apples, blanched almonds, sprinkled with powdered cinnamon and then made into a paste with wine, used symbolically to remind the eater that his ancestors made bricks from clay when they were slaves in Egypt.

Reminder of Origin

Moror, horse-radish root, some of which is grated. The pungent taste of this bitter herb symbolizes the oppression of the Israelites at the hand of Pharaoh, Caesar, and in our own times to the perpetrators of pogroms.

Other bitter herbs, such as wild lettuce, endive, garden endive, water cress, succory, greens and parsley, originally used to garnish a stated dinner, in the Passover celebration, it serves as a reminder today to the Jews that they are of oriental origin.

Salt water or vinegar, which are to make the bitter foods more palatable. This alludes to faith in the Divine Covenant and serves to point out that ridicule, intolerance and persecution make the faith of Judaism more comforting to its present heirs.

A goblet for wine for each person which is replenished for four special blessings in the course of the memorial feast.

A special goblet before a ceremonially vacant place at the table, a token of hospitality. Certain traditions ascribe this cup to a readiness to welcome the return of Elijah, others to the readiness to welcome the Messiah.

Kennie Miller Chairman

Kennie Miller was program chairman and introduced the speaker who is the new rector at Calvary Episcopal church.

Herbert Schrankler, vice president, presided during absence of President Bert Hathaway. He announced there would be a meeting of the board of directors at his home at 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

Tom Yount reminded the members of the fish fry sponsored by the Versailles club April 22, for which reservations are being received.

Elmer Sterling announced the Kiwanis spring conference would be held in Columbia April 27 to which officers and members were invited. Past President Pinkney Miller of the Sedalia club, will be on the conference program.

Harry Brunkhorst was presented with a necktie by the reception committee.

Guests were: Kiwanian George Gerden, St. Louis; A. J. Morgan with R. C. Luster; Charles E. Messerly with R. O. Henderson and Del Heckert with R. E. Mullen.

Eight New Ward Officers Named

CHICAGO, April 14—(AP)—Montgomery, Ward and Company today announced it had named eight new vice-presidents.

The new officers were named at a meeting of the company's executive committee.

Action was taken after four vice-presidents resigned this week, following resignation of several others last summer.

The new men are:

C. A. Maxey, retail manager; C. W. Anderson, mail order manager; Morris Ginsburg, soft lines merchandise manager; J. C. Wagner, household lines and appliances manager; I. . Webber, hardlines merchandise manager; A. R. Cahill, treasurer; E. A. Krider, comptroller; S. S. Ball, secretary.

Governor Asks Good Friday Observance

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith called on Missourians today to set aside part of tomorrow for Good Friday observances.

He urged them to "lay aside material things" for meditation and religious services.

Quadruplets Live But A Few Hours

SYDNEY, Australia, Friday, April 15—(AP)—Quadruplets born prematurely yesterday to Mrs. George Shelton, 27, a farmer's wife, died today—all within four hours. The Sheltons have three other children.

Fatality Injured

CASSVILLE, Mo., April 14—(AP)—A man tentatively identified as Ike Brannon, 75, Seligman, Mo., died last night of injuries suffered when hit by a truck four miles north of Seligman.

Calf Devours Income Refund Check

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14—(AP)—Federal income tax refund checks are green.

Grass is green.

And one Oklahoma calf eats anything that is green.

That's why an Oklahoma farmer wants a duplicate refund check.

H. C. Jones, collector of internal revenue here, said he received the following information from an accoutant representing the farmer:

"He put the check in his hip pocket and went about his work of repairing a fence in his feed lot. While working, a calf came up behind him, took the check out of his pocket and ate it."

Wind, Rain, Cold and Snow

Wide Area in the Grasp of Sudden Flurry by Wind

Thursday the temperature took a rather rapid dip here going down to 36 degrees above zero early that evening after being at 53 degrees at 7 o'clock that morning.

A strong wind prevailed throughout the afternoon and evening and with it came light rainfall and a snowfall for a brief period during the dinner hour the snow melting as quickly as it struck the earth.

Wind, Snow And Rain

By The Associated Press

April kicked up snow in the northwest corner of Missouri and brought rains and high winds to most of the state yesterday.

Light rains fell in Kansas, and both states were buffeted by gusty winds.

Snow measured two inches at Oregon, Mo., and an inch at Maryville, Mo., as the storm moved eastward across Iowa and into the Great Lakes region. At Bedford, Iowa, just across the Missouri border, three inches of snow was reported last night.

Heavy rains were reported at Unionville, Burlington Junction and Maryville, all reporting more than one inch.

J. C. Huddle, government forecaster at Kansas City, said precipitation would be ended early today (Friday) in all but the extreme northwest sector of Missouri where clearing was expected by noon.

Clearing skies and slowly diminishing winds was the forecast for today in Missouri. Freezing temperatures are forecast tonight over northern Missouri.

St. Joseph, Missouri had rain that turned to big snow flakes near nightfall.

Storm Widespread

CHICAGO, April 14—(AP)—A widespread storm swirled today into the Great Lakes region after lashing much of the upper Mississippi Valley with snow and rain and destructive winds.

The disturbance dropped more than seven inches of wet snow on Minneapolis and St. Paul. It was accompanied by a sharp drop in temperatures. Extensive damage to communications was reported in central and western Nebraska and in parts of Iowa. Winds up to 40 miles an hour were reported.

The path of snowfall was about 100 miles wide, and extended northeastward from western Nebraska into northern Wisconsin. Eight inches of snow were reported at Geneva, Neb., five inches at Grand Island, and four inches near Sioux City, Ia.

Dozens of Nebraska communities were deprived of telephone service and power failures interrupted radio stations at Sioux City, Ia., and Yankton, S. D., briefly.

Hangar and Planes Burned

ANTHONY, Kas., April 14—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin raced through a 80x250-foot hangar at Anthony Municipal Airport late today, destroying the hangar, all the equipment in it, and seven airplanes with a loss of well over $50,000.

Col. J. Howard Wilcox, until recently commander of the Kansas wing of the Civil Air Patrol, now probate and county judge of Harper county, was the principal loser. He owned the hangar and equipment, headquarters of his business, the southern Kansas Air Transit, and five of the planes.

Oil Tanks Fire At Maryville

Furious Battle to Bring Big Blaze Under Control

MARYVILLE, Mo., April 14—(AP)—A spectacular oil fire which for a time threatened more than 250,000 gallons of gasoline was brought under control today after a furious battle by firemen.

Five storage tanks with a capacity of 12,000 gallons, five smaller tanks, and a number of drums filled with alcohol went up in flames during the five-hour conflagration.

All belonged to the B-Square Oil Company, located between the city proper and the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College. Only a half a block from the fire was the Residence Hall for women of the college. It was ordered evacuated.

Only one person was reported injured. He was Dean McClurg, an employee of the company, who suffered facial burns when the fire was touched off by a broken electric wire.

Within a half block of the burning tanks were gasoline storage facilities belonging to other oil companies. Firemen concentrated their attention on saving them and in this received some help from the weather. Sleet and later snow fell.

Lester Shipps, operator of the local B-Square Company, estimated the total loss at $40,000.

Aid From St. Joseph

A chemical company from the St. Joseph fire department aided Maryville firemen. Mayor Clyde Roberts summoned bulldozers and cranes to the scene for the emergency. He feared the bursting tanks would spill into a creek nearby, and it would be necessary to dam the stream to keep the fluid from spreading.

McClurg said he was starting to fill a tank truck at the company's docks about 9 a. m. when he reached for a light cord. He said the cord parted, and the sparks set off the fire.

He drove the truck out of the way, but the fire caught an equipment house and from there spread to the storage tanks.

The flames leaped nearly a hundred feet into the air.

Informed of the fire, President J. W. Jones of the Teachers College immediately ordered evacuation of the Women's Residence Hall, a three story structure.

Also endangered during the fire was 16,000 gallons of liquid butane. A brisk northwest wind, however, aided firemen in preventing the flames from reaching it.

Three Dead in Fires at Cebu City

CEBU CITY, Philippines, Friday, April 15—(AP)—This second largest city in the Philippines today counted three dead, three seriously injured and 10,000 homeless in two big fires within 15 hours.

Both of the fires, which destroyed 1,600 homes—many of them thatched huts—were accidental. The first was attributed to a child playing with matches. The second was traced to a woman who set fire to a mosquito netting while hunting for insects with a kerosene lamp.

Businessmen Scramble to Cut Inventories, Get Out of Debt

By Charles Molony

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Businessmen seem to be fairly scrambling to cut down on inventories and get out of debt.

Officials guessed today that the chief explanation for a record-breaking drop in business loans during the first week of April could be stated like this:

Scared of getting caught with large stocks of goods during a period of falling prices, many businessmen don't want to borrow to build up stocks. They are using proceeds from current sales to pay off old debts as fast as possible.

In any event, an unprecedented $277,000,000 plunge in business loans during the week ended April 6 climaxed a downslide that has been going on since Christmas.

Volume of Loans Dropped

Reports to the Federal Reserve board from banks in major cities across the country show the volume of commercial, industrial and agricultural loans outstanding has dropped $1,005,000,000 since last December 22.

Still, the total business loan volume in the week ended April 6 was $14,627,000,000, or $197,000,000 above the level at the same time a year ago.

Officials said it was apparent that businessmen are trying to avoid a repetition of a major event in the depression of the early 1930s: The building up of stocks of goods that couldn't be sold at the going price, the calling of loans and consequent forced sales at sacrifice prices.

"Confidence In Future"

Insofar as they prevent a recurrence of that, it's all to the good, as officials see it here. The danger would be a panicky, unreasonable halt in buying that would bring widespread factory closings, laying off of workers, and a consequent cut in consumer buying power.

But Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said there is every reason to have "confidence in the future," and that he had seen signs of a new upturn in business on recent trips to the midwest and to New England.

Snyder saw recent price adjustments as meaning that "the purchasing power of the dollar has improved a little," and he said buying power is plentiful. "It is up to us now to attract that buying power into action."

One of Three Koch Babies Died Thursday

Weighed 2½ lbs. At Birth; Had Heart Ailment

One of the triplet sons born early Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Koch of Marshall as they were enroute to the Woodland hospital in Sedalia, died at 5:00 o'clock Thursday morning at the hospital. The infant weighed two and one-half pounds at birth and died of a congenital heart ailment, a condition sometime found in babies born prematurely.

The body was taken to the Sweeney funeral home in Marshall.

The first of the three babies was born at 2:15 o'clock the morning of April 12 near Marshall Junction as Mr. and Mrs. Koch, Mr. Koch's mother, Mrs. Rudolph Koch and Dr. E. C. Macey, osteopathic physician of Marshall were coming to Sedalia to the hospital. Within 12 minutes the other two babies were born.

Dr. Macey, who had been driving, delivered the babies while Mr. Koch took over the driving. Mr. Koch's father stayed at the home of his son with the other three children, Linda Faye, Wanda Jean and Chester Rudolph.

Other Two Doing Well

The new babies were taken to a room prepared for them aside from the nursery with incubators and resuscitation apparatus and have been watched constantly since their arrival. The condition of the other two babies is reported as satisfactory at the hospital.

Four Accused Waive Hearings

ALBANY, Mo., April 14—(AP)—Four of seven Stanberry, Mo., residents held in the theft of nearly $6,000 from the home of a slaying victim, today waived preliminary hearings and their trials were set for the September term of circuit court.

Meanwhile no date has been set for the preliminary hearings of two other men, Harold Emrich, 21, and Freddie McQuinn, 34, both charged with the murder of Miss Mary Hammer, 83-year-old recluse.

Prosecuting Attorney C. E. Ernst, and Charles Miller, Trenton, attorney for Emrich, said the date probably would be about May 21.

McQuinn, held in jail at Bethany, Mo., was reported by Sheriff Everett Bowman to have admitted in a statement that he and another man beat Miss Hammer to death with her crutch last January 20.

Harold Emrich's preliminary on a charge of grand larceny, originally set for April 16, was reset today for May 21. His mother, Mrs. Elsie Emrich, 41, is charged with receiving stolen money. Ernst requested that her preliminary be recessed until after the two hearings on the murder charges.

In the other actions today before Magistrate Paul Brown, Columbus McCrary, 36, Thomas Beal 23, and Earl Emrich, waived preliminary hearings on charges of grand larceny from a dwelling, and Raymond Pettey waived his preliminary on a charge of receiving stolen money.

McCrary and Beal are being held in jail under bond of $8,000 each. Each is charged with two offenses. Earl Emrich is under a $4,000 bond and Pettey under a $2,000 bond.

Charge Operating Gambling Device

CARTHAGE, Mo., April 14—(AP)—An information charging a Webb City theater manager with operating a gambling device was filed in magistrate court today by Max Glover, assistant prosecuting attorney.

Named in the information was Clarence McDonald, manager of the Dickinson theater at Webb City.

Glover said that last Friday night a game called dartaway was introduced in the theater. Patrons, he said, were given three darts to throw at a numbered board and those hitting the lucky number were awarded cash prizes.

After filing the information, Glover issued this statement saying an officer of the law will be in attendance at the Friday night shows at "which the game is conducted to apprehend any person or persons participating therein."

Mercury Drops Ten Degrees in Few Hours

Following a light rainfall of .53 of an inch early this morning, weather conditions were quite different today from the pleasant spring day enjoyed Wednesday.

Temperatures dropped ten degrees today between 7:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m., the latter reading being recorded at 43 degrees.

A forceful wind whipped around Sedalians walking on the streets. The velocity force of between 35 and 40 miles per hour seemed to grow more powerful in the afternoon, thereby causing a great number of pedestrians to cling to their hats.

Selective Service Funds in Half

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—The House voted today to cut the Selective Service system's operating funds in half for the year beginning July 1 since drafting of men for the armed services has been suspended.

A vote of 82 to 9 cut the allotment from $9,000,000 to $4,500,000.

The money is part of a general appropriation bill.

Airport Here Is Listed by CAA for Funds

Plan for Missouri Includes 125 New Airports

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration today listed 192 locations in Missouri where, it said, airports should be constructed or improved on the basis of existing and anticipated demands for air service.

The Missouri listings are contained in the 1949 National Airport program, an annual report prepared by the CAA in accordance with the Federal Airport Act.

The plan does not represent an allocation of funds.

However, the estimated cost of the construction and development for Missouri outlined in the plan would be $66,151,000 of which $27,901,000 would be in federal funds and $38,250,000 in funds provided by the sponsor.

On the basis of appropriations to be made by congress, CAA will program for the coming fiscal year the most important locations in the plan.

Lists 125 New Airports

The plan for Missouri lists 125 new airports for which federal and local sources would expend an estimated $40,181,000. Improvement to 67 of the state's existing airports would cost the same sources an estimated total of $25,970,000.

City airports in this area mentioned are as follows: Sedalia Municipal, Appleton City Municipal, Boonville Municipal, California Municipal, Camdenton Memorial, Clinton Municipal, Columbia Municipal, Concordia Municipal, Eldon Model Airpark, Glasgow Municipal, Higginsville Municipal, Holden Municipal, Jefferson City Municipal, Lexington Municipal, Marshall Municipal Memorial, Nevada Municipal, Osceola Municipal, Slater Memorial, Sweet Springs Municipal, Tipton Municipal, Versailles Municipal, Warrensburg (Sky Haven) Warsaw Municipal and Windsor Municipal.

Pleads Guilty In Safe Robbery

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 14—(AP)—Robert Walter Elway, 28, today pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a safe with $15,000 from Camp Chaffee, Ark.

U. S. Commissioner Owen J. Mowrey ordered him held on $10,000 bond.

He was arrested here today by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after city policeman Verlin I. Gallagher halted him for speeding through Albuquerque business district.

The FBI identified him as the third man sought in the burglary.

He arrived here after a merry spending spree which led from Camp Chaffee through Kansas City and Oklahoma City.

But in his rush to spend the money—he bought a 1949 Buick convertible, expensive clothes and liquor—he forgot license plates for his car.

Gallagher said he intended only to warn Elway against speeding if he drove an out-of-state car. But when he checked he saw no license plates. Gallagher then asked for Elway's driver's license and recognized an alias the FBI reported his using—Robert Williams.

He was then arrested and the convertible impounded.

He had nearly $1,000 in his possession. Detective Chief Frank J. Stephenson quoted Elway as saying the cash, auto and other possessions all were made possible by robbing the Camp Chaffee safe.

One Dead and Thirty Injured

NEW ALBANY, Miss., April 14—(AP)—A midnight train collision left one person dead today, seven in a hospital and at least 23 others hurt.

The Rebel, light streamliner of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad, met a 110-freight head-on on a single-track line seven miles north of here last night.

Mail clerk Joe Cannon of Jygon, Miss., was killed when the Rebel's mail car telescoped with the engine.

Each engineer saw the other train and slowed down enough to avoid a more serious disaster. Engine crews leaped to safety.

Railroad officials tentatively blamed a misunderstanding of a signal for the accident.

Thirty injured were treated at Hayes hospital here. Seven remained there 1 day.

The Rebel was bound from St. Louis to New Orleans and the freight from New Orleans to St. Louis.

Aid Bill To White House

Congress Gives Approval for $5,580,000,000 In Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Backed up by whopping majorities in Senate and House, legislation to extend the Marshall plan to July 1, 1950, at a maximum cost of $5,580,000,000 was passed and sent to the White House today.

Both chambers accepted the bill by voice vote after ironing out a compromise version of their own ideas. A $150,000,000 item for long term contracts was converted to a $150,000,000 guarantee that American business men can get their profits on foreign investments turned into U. S. dollars.

The bill still must be backed up by actual appropriations. Efforts will be made to cut it.

Other Important Bills

Both houses drove ahead on a full day's work. Other events:

Housing—the Senate listened to opening debate on a housing-slum clearance bill which has heavy support. Similar legislation in the past has ridden through the Senate and bogged down in the House. With 22 senators, divided between parties, as its sponsor, the bill would provide for 810,000 public housing units in six years, a slum clearance program and a farm home plan.

Appropriations—the House passed along to the Senate a $7,575,000,000 financing 28 federal agencies for the next fiscal year. Funds for selective service, which is no longer drafting anyone, were halved.

Labor—labor bill compromises were offered in the House under southern Democratic sponsorship with open Republican support. Rep. Wood (D-Ga) introduced a measure to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor act but retain most of its provisions. Rep. Lucas (D-Tex) dropped in a minimum wage bill raising the figure from 40 cents an hour to 65 and adjusting the future minimum to living costs.

China—Secretary of State Acheson wrote chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee that a proposal to send China $1,500,000,000 in military and economic aid to China is "unwarranted" in the face of "deterioration" of the Nationalist Chinese government.

Health—three Republicans introduced a national health bill which would help states develop medical and hospital services. It would provide upward of $1,250,000,000 a year. The three are Senators Taft (Ohio), Smith (NJ) and Donnell (Mo). The action prompted Senator Morse (R-Ore) to observe that a move to "liberalize" the GOP seems to be progressing.

Vacation—the House knocked off work for a 10-day Easter vacation. Democratic leader McCormack (Mass) assured the members they had done "a remarkable job." He recalled that they had among other things, passed foreign aid legislation to strengthen the "bulwark against Communism."

Trusteeship for Paint Company

KANSAS CITY, April 14—(AP)—Control of the Cook Paint and Varnish company here was placed in a trusteeship under terms of the will of Charles R. Cook, chairman of the company's board of directors, who died recently.

The will was filed for probation today. Earnings from the estate will go to the widow and two daughters, Mrs. Desmond Curran and Mrs. Esthmer H. Skinner, both of Kansas City.

The trusteeship is to be managed by the First National Bank and Robert B. Caldwell.

The company has plants here, and at Houston, Tex., and Detroit. No estimate of the estate was made in the will. In its annual report last November, the company reported total assets of $13,894,502. Its sales last year totaled $29,700,393.

Rev. T. Cecil Swackhamer, church pastor, read the double ring marriage service. White tapers in cathedral standards and tall baskets of gladioli and snapdragon decorated the chancel and rows of tapers along the chancel and choir rails were interspersed with evergreen and huckelberry foliage. The family pews were marked with white satin bows and huckleberry sprigs.

Before the ceremony the church organist, Dean C. L. Fichthorn, played the following program of wedding music:

In Paradisium by DuBois
Intermezzo from "L'Arlesienne" by Bizet
When We Two Were Maying, by Nevin
Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms
Song to the Evening Star from "Tannhauser," Wagner
To a Wild Rose, MacDowell
Ave Maria, Schubert

He also played the wedding marches, and accompanied Mr. Reuben Hunker, Jr., as he sang "Because." During the ceremony he played softly "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory bridal satin made with sheer net yoke edged in a wide ruffle of Chantilly lace, with fitted bodice and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The full skirt was made over hoops, and lengthened into an aisle-wide train. Her finger-tip length veil of French illusion cascaded from a halo bonnet of ivory satin. She wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses from which fell a shower of white rosebuds and white satin streamers. For something borrowed she carried a handkerchief of imported Belgian linen and lace which Mrs. Margaret McAninch had carried at her wedding.

Miss Loyce Wilson of Houstonia, formerly of Sedalia, the maid of honor, wore a floor-length dress of pale green organdy, made with low round neckline, cap sleeves, fitted bodice, and full gored skirt, with sash of green satin ribbon. In her hair she wore a garland of yellow daisies, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow daisies and Talisman roses. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Reuben Hunker, Jr., and Miss Bette Jean Arnold of Boonville, wore dresses of pale yellow, identical in style to that of the maid of honor. The candlelighters, Miss Rosemary Hayob of Marshall and Miss Grace Ann McCarthy of Wilmette, Ill., sorority sisters of the bride, wore similarly styled dresses of pale yellow organdy, with matching sashes. They wore garlands of white daisies in their hair and had shoulder corsages of gardenias. They carried tapers tied with bows of yellow ribbon and pale green maline. All of the bride's attendants wore mitts to match their dresses.

Mr. Mitchell Cochran of Boonville acted as best man for his brother. The groomsmen were Buddy Bybee of Marshall, brother of the bride, and Bud Oerly, Gene Kent, and Walter Potter, all of Boonville.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Philathea and Rector class-rooms of the church. Tall baskets of white flowers, Easter lilies, and cathedral standards of burning tapers with huckleberry foliage entwined were used in decorating the rooms. The bride's table was covered with an imported cutwork cloth and was centered with the four-tiered wedding cake decorated all in white, surmounted by wedding bells, and wreathed with sprengeri fern and white sweet peas. White tapers in two-branched crystal candelabra stood on each side.

About 250 guests were received, including about 150 from Boonville, Fayette and Columbia in addition to the Marshall friends of the couple. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bybee, Mrs. Sam Cochran, Sr., Miss Loyce Wilson and Mr. Mitchell Cochran. Mrs. Bybee wore a navy blue costume with matching half hat trimmed with a row of pink carnations, and Mrs. Cochran wore a dress of soft green crepe with small toast-colored straw hat with green trim. Both wore orchid corsages.

After the bride and bridegroom had cut the first slice of wedding cake, cake and punch were served by Misses Joan Orear, Betty Lucas, Elaine Bray, and Jane Donoghue, sorority sisters of the bride. Also assisting were Mrs. Herbert Mikels, Mrs. Dorsey Bail, Mrs. George Wyatt, Mrs. A. W. Dooley, Mrs. C. O. Booth, Mrs. Forest Duncan, Mrs. W. H. Lyon, and Mrs. J. W. McClure. Miss Barbara Dooley had charge of the guest register.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran left after the reception for a Southern wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue gaberdine suit with white and yellow accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. After April 12 they will be at home in Boonville. The bridegroom is a graduate assistant in the department of chemistry at Central College in Fayette. He was graduated from Central College and also attended Columbia University while serving as an ensign in the United States Navy during World War II. The bride attended Missouri Valley College and was a member of Alpha Xi Delta, social sorority.

Further Plans For AAUW Convention

Plans are progressing by the Sedalia Branch of the American Association of University Women for the state convention of that organization to be held in Sedalia April 22 and 23.

Mrs. James McNeil is the president of the local A. A. U. W. and Mrs. George T. Lockett convention chairman, and with their committees are arranging various types of entertainment for the visitors.

The convention program will present a number of national and state leaders who are authorities in A. A. U. W.'s interest fields. Among them will be Dr. Karl H. Berns, assistant secretary to the National Education Association, Washington, D. C., who will be the guest speaker at the banquet Friday night, April 22, taking for his subject: "Whither Bound American Education." The speaker at the dinner meeting Saturday night will be Dr. Phoebe Morrison, International Relations Associate, National Association A. A. U. W., Washington, D. C., who will talk on "Education for International Responsibility."

Luncheon On Saturday

Mrs. Edith Hyslop Sherrard, Associate in Social Studies, National Headquarters, A. A. U. W., Washington, D. C., will speak at the Saturday luncheon, April 23, on "The Place of Social Studies in the A. A. U. W. Program," and Dr. Anna I. Powell, vice president of the Southwest Central Region, will speak following the morning business session and will conduct the A. A. U. W. Clinic.

Dr. Laura J. Nahm, of Central State College, Warrensburg, will present a panel of foreign students, "Campus Crossroads," with students from China, Siam, Italy, Germany, Denmark and France participating.

Dinner At Old Homestead

Mrs. David T. Blake, of Salisbury, Mo., state president, will preside at the two business sessions, one Friday morning and one Saturday morning and at the dinner meeting Friday evening.

The board of directors meeting will be held at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, April 21, and the Board of Directors dinner, given by the Sedalia Branch of A. A. U. W., will be at the Old Missouri Homestead Thursday evening.

There will be six group conferences to be presided over by various state chairmen.

Headquarters for the convention will be at the Bothwell hotel.

Red Cross Corner

During the period of inclement weather last week, when an adjacent town feared a tornado, which passed overhead, this Chapter was alerted by the Area office and instructed to be ready for a possible disaster. Fortunately, the tornado sidestepped Sedalia, but it should be of interest and comfort to everyone to know that the Chapter, backed by National American Red Cross, will be ready when and if disaster ever does strike.

George Vanderpool, Home Service Field Representative from the Area Office, was in Sedalia Thursday, and conducted his regular meeting with this and other chapters. A. G. Scofield, Field Director, ARC, with the Veterans Administration in Kansas City, led the discussion.

Last Thursday, Mrs. A. A. Studebaker organized a Red Cross First Aid Class at Sacred Heart School. The sessions will be held twive every week. Continuing the First Aid program, Mrs. Laurence Wolfe will start a class of the High Point Home Makers club next Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. The meetings will be held at High Point school.

Junior Garden Club Arbor Day Program

Mrs. W. O. Stanley Presents Juniper Trees to School

On Wednesday at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon an Arbor Day program was given by the Blue Bird Junior Garden club, of Jefferson school.

After the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by the school, a welcome to the adult garden clubs was given by Sarah Watson. The seventh grade gave a reading on "Johnny Appleseed." "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer, was sung by the seventh grade.

Mrs. A. L. Pringle presented Mrs. W. O. Stanley, president of Circle three of the Sedalia Garden club, who told of her teaching experience in Jefferson school 48 years ago, then known as the Northeast school. She said the last class she taught had 65 first graders in it. She then presented to the school a personal gift of two juniper trees.

Scrap Book Awards

Mrs. Pringle presented the award and ribbons for the scrap books on "Birds" in the recent contest. Mrs. C. L. Carter, the sponsor of the Blue Bird Junior Garden club, spoke. Arbor Day and its meaning, by Anita Bottcher and Juniper Trees, by Charles Grace.

E. Martin, principal of the school, thanked Mrs. Stanley for the gift and the entire group sang, "America," after which the trees were planted by the seventh grade boys.

Two months ago, the Junior Garden club committee offered three awards for scrap books on "Birds." The committee met last week and awarded the following: Vivian Chapin, Washington school, first; Janelle Goldsmith, Washington school, second, and Clo Angel Green, Jefferson school, third. Honorable mention went to: Virginia Miller, Janice Potter, Beverly Jean Engholm, Lillian Pierce, Betty Ann Byrd, Dessie K. Belsha, of Jefferson school, and Loretta Grinstead, Donna Buchholz, Mary Hellen Seifner, of Sacred Heart school, and Danny Lee Ruffin, Louella Mae Griffith and Chas. Salmon, of Whittier school.

Outstanding Books

Albert Lee Pringle, who had the only scrap book entered from the eighth grade at Smith-Cotton high school, did his birds in pastel colors. Several books were outstanding, but could not qualify due to the fact that several children had worked on them.

All the books will be sent to Cape Girardeau to the state awards committee for final judging.

Damage Suit Names Officer

A damage suit asking for $5,000 actual damages and punitive damages of $2,500 was filed by C. L. Vansel, 500 East Twenty-fourth street, against Bill Hatfield, city police officer, in circuit court Saturday.

The plaintiff alleges in the petition that while he was on his way home from Swift and company where he was employed, that on the night of March 22, 1949, he was approached by Hatfield and, he alleges, assaulted and choked by him.

It was further alleged in the petition that Mr. Vansel had just recovered from a goiter operation and on account of the alleged assault he was forced to go back to the hospital.

The second count in the petition is against bondsmen of Bill Hatfield, who are: C. M. Swope, Walter Jessie, and H. S. Barman. The bond is made out in the sum of $500.

Frank T. Armstrong is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Car Stolen Here is Found in Warrensburg

The Ford coupe of C. W. Gordy, stolen last Tuesday night from in front of his home, 715 East Fourth street, was located in Warrensburg on Thursday. The car apparently had been driven hard by the thieves and had been used in one, two or three robberies.

State highway patrol troopers were of the opinion the car had been used in a robbery, due to the fact a new automobile battery was found in the car, which Gordy said was not his, also several candy bars, bottles of soda pop and an empty cigarette carton.

Case Dismissed in Circuit Court

The case of Ivan Dale Jackson, aged 18, charged with grand larceny, was dismissed in circuit court Saturday.

Jackson was charged with taking $55 from his grandfather, William H. Sims, last September. He was later apprehended in the state of California, and returned to this county by John Ryan, who had been deputized by Sheriff Ed Goetz, to go for him.

Sims, in Sedalia at the time of the alleged offense, is now in Illinois, and according to Wm. F. Brown, prosecuting attorney, unavailable to appear as a witness against Jackson.

Youth to Undergo Operation in St. Louis

Leo Curry, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Curry, 709 East Thirteenth street, who has a heart ailment, is in Barnes hospital in St. Louis for examination and will probably be operated on this week. Stolen Car Driver Caught

WARSAW, Mo., April 9—(AP)—Just five minutes after he received a radio pick-up order for a stolen car, Trooper C. V. Means spotted the automobile near here and captured the driver tonight.

The patrol said J. E. Kitowski of Maroa, Ill., was robbed of his car, $45 and all his clothing by a hitchhiker near Tunas, about 35 miles southeast of here in Dallas county.

Kitowski told the patrol he had picked up the hitchhiker near St. Louis this afternoon. Near Tunas the man pulled a gun and made him strip off his clothes, then drove back north on U. S. highway 73.

Trooper Means got the patrol dispatch at 8:30, and five minutes later saw the car. He chased it two miles before the driver stopped.

Means said the driver gave his name as Harry Dwane Jones, 19, of Hennepin, Ill. Jones said he had been working about three weeks as a farm hand near Cordova, Ill., before he started for Wyoming yesterday.

The trooper said Jones had a .22 caliber pistol. The youth was being held in the Benton county jail for investigation.

Caravan of 22 People Visit Rural Chapel

A caravan of 22 people, composed of the pastor, Rev. R. E. Hurd, officers and members of the Women's Society of the Christian Service of Epworth Methodist church, visited Goodwill Chapel on Friday where members of the W. S. C. S. of New Bethel, Pleasant Hill and Goodwill Chapel had assembled.

A chicken dinner served at noon was followed by a meeting at which the Epworth visitors presented the plans for the Quadrennial Advance Program of the Women's Division of Christian Service, in connection with the four year Advance for Christ plan that has begun in the Methodist church.

Mrs. J. Lawrence Dyer, Youth Secretary of the Sedalia District W. S. C. S., who was the leader of the Caravan, introduced Mr. Hurd, who gave the devotional.

Mrs. Lester Harrell, the president of the Epworth W. S. C. S. introduced Mrs. Frank G. Brooks, the new president of the Women's Division of Christian Service.

Miss Lulu Monroe directed a short period of silent mediation and then prayed.

The following presented an educational quiz pertaining to the Advance plans: Mrs. Charles Hurtt, Mrs. Lester Harrell, Mrs. Virgil Corson, Mrs. Charles Hayes, Mrs. Ray Hatfield, Mrs. W. A. Green, Mrs. A. L. Pringle, Mrs. Elmer Coulter and Mrs. E. L. Ringen.

Seven posters made by Mrs. S. O. Brill of Lincoln were used in an Acrostic "Advice for Advance", presented by Mrs. Hurtt, Mrs. Eldon DeMott, Mrs. Ringen, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Corson, Mrs. Hatfield, Mrs. Roy Siegel and Mrs. Dyer.

Mrs. Henry Niemann, promotion secretary of the Sedalia District W. S. C. S. in her short talk gave special emphasis to the needs for the Advance as "Christ's Call" and "The Need of the World."

Rev. Carl Opp, pastor of the Goodwill Circuit, dismissed the meeting with a few remarks and a prayer.

Gas Flareup Burns Plumber

Harry Wimer Jr., 1000 East Thirteenth street, was painfully but not too seriously burned about the face and hands in a gas flareup, while working on a gas line at Gwinn's Grocery, 820 South Engineer avenue, about 3:50 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He was taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. D. R. Edwards rendered medical attention.

Wimer, who is employed by Elwood Thompson plumber, was disconnecting an automatic gas water heater, when a plug in a pipe blew out and caught fire. Joist under the flooring blazed but were quickly extinguished by the firemen who were called to the scene.

It is the second time Wimer has suffered facial burns from a gas flareup. While working at the residence of B. B. Bess, Third street and Park avenue, several months ago a similar accident occurred.

Damage to the Gwinn Grocery was only slight.

Liberty Park Dates Are Set

The Liberty park baseball schedule for this season has been set by the Sedalia park board and announced this week for the three teams which use that city park ball diamond, the Sedalia Athletics, Junior American Legion and the Chiefs, Ban Johnson baseball.

The schedule indicates plenty of baseball for Sedalia if the teams fulfill all the dates they have been assigned. The dates which, ordinarily were for the State Semi-Pro baseball tournament July 22-31 were set aside for a tournament, and it is likely a tournament may be played those dates.

However, as far as a tournament being played, this has not been fully decided upon. Indications are the Athletic Association may want to hold a Tournament of Champions in September and in this case, the July dates may be turned back to the ball clubs.

The schedule:

Schedule for the use of Liberty Park ball park for 1949.

Dares Russia Offer Charges

By Francis W. Carpenter

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—Britain's Hector McNeil dared Russia's Andrei A. Gramyko today to file charges in the United Nations against the North Atlantic treaty.

McNeil, minister of state, said he did not expect Gromyko to take such a "straight-forward" course.

Some U. N. observers said they believe the Russians have hesitated to do so because defeat of a censure motion would mean U. N. endorsement of the treaty.

Gromyko, first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, took notes during McNeil's reply to the Russian's attack yesterday on the Atlantic alliance and the 12 nations that signed 10 days ago.

McNeil, was the first of the delegates from the three big western powers to reply.,

Applause rang through the Assembly hall when McNeil finished. The Russian bloc sat silent.

Gromyko started the scrap yesterday in the midst of a debate on the veto and on international cooperation. He charged the pact is an aggressive weapon against the Soviet Union.

Gave Up Life in Saving Friend

COTTER, Ark., April 14—(AP)—What would you do if faced with the alternative of risking another man's life or saving your own—and only seconds in which to decide?

Jewel. C. Dosier, Yellville, Ark., 34-year-old construction worker at Bull Shoals dam site in north Arkansas, had to make such a decision.

Dosier chose to protect his fellow worker. The decision cost him hi. life.

The heroic incident was related today by the man whose safety Dosier declined to risk—Pat Milligan, 25, also of Yellville, a lifelong friend.

While Dosier was lowering Milligan from a railroad trestle by rope to a work project below, a cement-laden car suddenly began rolling toward Dosier. Milligan dangled helpiessly, 100 feet from the ground.

Dosier made his decision.

He heid onto the rope until Milligan landed safetly. By then, it was too late for Dosier to protect himself. The car struck and dragged him 60 fect.

He died in a clinic here last night, several hours after the accident. Funeral services for Dosier, father of two children, will be held at Yellville tomorrow afternoon.

Americans Held In Guatemala

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, Apr. 14—(AP)—Two Americans held in jail here on suspicion of revolutionary activity say they were compelled to join a rebel band under threat of death.

The two are under military arrest. It is likely they will be tried by a military court. No specific charges has been filed against them. Guatemalan penalties for armed revolt range up to death before a firing squad.

The prisoners identified themselves as Robert Ramage, 43, and Ronald Rothe, 29, both of Tucson, Ariz.

The men said they ere forced by Dr. Gustavo Adolfo Trangay, leader of the revolt, to join the band that staged an uprising along the Mexican border last week.

Deny That Report Is Erroneous

Hoover Commission Task Force Insists Army Padded Its Budget Requests

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—Striking back at Army criticism, a Hoover commission task force defiantly insisted today that the Army had padded its original 1950 budget requests.

The subcommittee of the government reorganization group flatly denied that its report on the national military establishment contained ten "misstatements of fact," as alleged by Secretary of the Army Royall.

It said the army's comments disputing the task force findings actually "confirm the committee's report in every instance and in practically every detail."

For example, it said, it's report that the army had once "asked for funds to modernize 102 more tanks than it possessed" was absolutely true. The task force said the discrepancy wasn't noted until its own investigators pointed it out.

A Clerical Error

It said much the same thing about a clerical error which added $30,000,000 to another army budget figure.

The commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover based a series of recommendations for government changes partly on the reports of its task forces.

The task force on the military establishment handed in the results of its investigation in November. Royall followed up in March with a letter to Hoover asking that the "ten misstatements" be corrected.

The task force point-by-point rebuttal, along with Royall's letter, was made public today by Ferdinand Eberstadt, former member of the War Production board who headed the Hoover subcommittee.

Support Committee Finding

In a covering letter to Hoover, Eberstadt said the army comments in fact support the committee finding that "the army's budget requests, as originally submitted to the secretary of defense, were on a highly inflated basis which bore little apparent relation to the president's ceiling or to any strategic plan."

On almost every one of the ten points, the task force reply to the army opened with some such words as "The army does not challenge the facts as stated by the committee" and closed with:

"There is no misstatement of fact in this matter by the committee."

Eberstadt's letter noted only "one or two small points where we are quite content to accept the army's views."

Differences of Opinion

Royall said the army did not question points in which there are "honest differences of opinion," adding: "In other instances, however, it is felt that the testimony of army representatives was not properly recorded or interpreted by the committee representative.

Attached to his letter were "ten misstatements of fact and the comments of the army with reference to each." He asked Hoover to correct its report on those ten points.

One of them concerned this task force statement: "The army's original budgetary requests for fiscal year 1950 included an item for tropical worsted uniforms at $129 apiece, enough for all the enlisted men in the army and then some!"

The army's response said the request was intended to include 450,000 air force personnel, and that the cost per uniform was thus $40.48—not $129. It noted that the request was tentative and was never submitted to the budget bureau.

In its reply, the task force said that as far as it was concerned the reference to the air force was "additional information" and noted: "The army's comment does not question the committee's report of the item of $108,290,859 for tropical worsted uniforms."

Greenleaf in Cue Exhibition

Ralph Greenleaf, 17 times pocket billiard champion of the world, won two exhibition games "in a walk" at the Smoke House, Thursday. In the afternoon he defeated Tony Turner 125 to 22, with a high run of 79. Connie Michaelis furnished competition for the evening match, and sunk 69 while Greenleaf won with 125 and a high run of 34.

A large crowd of local pocket billard fans attended each exhibition, and Greenleaf displayed some startling trick shots after the regular games.

Greenleaf is considered one of the greatest cueists of all time, and won the world title for the first time at the age of 19. He has had high runs up to 273 in exhibition play, and a run of 126 unfinished against Taberski in 1929, when he also won the title.

Dentists Move State Headquarters

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—The Missouri State Dental Association is moving its headquarters from Columbia to Jefferson City.

The executive council made the decision at its annual meeting here yesterday. It also appointed Dr. Rubin R .Rhoades of Jefferson City as secretary. He succeeds the late Dr. C. W. Digges of Columbia, who was secretary for more tkan 15 years until he died a few months ago.

Large Black Cat Stuck Its Head In Salmon Can

ST. LOUIS, April 14—(AP)—A large black cat stuck its head into a salmon can early this morning, couldn't get it out because of the sharp edges, and the tinny, resonant howls that ensued were enough to arouse the whole neighborhood.

In a frenzy, the canned cat climbed a tree and fellout—a suffering cat.

Police were called, but they couldn't get the can off, so they called the humane society. While the policemen held the cat a humane society man pried the can free with a piece of wood.

The cat, a stray, was taken to the society shelter to recuperate, and there it had salmon for lunch.

Seaman Dead; 10 Hurt in Blast

PEARL HARBOR, April 14—(AP)—One seaman was killed and 10 others injured seriously today in the explosion of a five-inch gun aboard the destroyer Hollister 40 miles off Pearl Harbor.

Thirteen men were inside the enclosed two-gun mount when the blast occurred. Force of the explosion blew off one side of the armored mount.

The injured, all badly burned and cut, their faces covered with bandages, were brought ashore. They were taken by ambulance to Aiea Naval Hospital.

Frontier headquarters said there was no detailed word on what kind of an accident occurred, or on what operations the destroyer squadron had been conducting.

Presumably, however, there was an explosion in a two-gun, five-inch mount during firing practice.

Two men inside the mount escaped with minor injuries.

The man killed was the gun captain of mount three. The names of dead and injured were withheld until relatives are notified.

Four destroyers were firing in an anti-aircraft practice when the explosion occurred.

Commander Robert McGoffin, the destroyer's commander, is from Golden City, Mo.

Airlines Sues Plane Company

CLEVELAND, April 14—(AP)—Northwest Airlines, Inc., of St. Paul, charged in a federal court suit today that the Glenn L. Martin Co. delivered five defective planes and that one of these crashed—killing 36 persons.

Northwest brought suit for $725,000 against the Martin Co., in U. S. district court, asking $450,000 for the lost plane and its equipment; $250,000 for the loss of services of the four other planes, and $25,000 in workmen's compensation for which Northwest Airlines became liable.

The petition said the plane crash involved occurred last Aug. 29 not far from Win n., Minn., and that 33 passengers and three crew members were killed. The airlines' petition said the left wing "tore off in flight."

Shark Jumps up And Bites Bather

TAMPICO, Mex., April 14—(AP)—A shark, frightened from the sea by naval gunfire and depth charges, jumped up on Miramar Beach yesterday and bi' a bather.

Other bathers grabbed sticks and clubs and beat the shark to death before it could ge back to the water. The injured man was hospitalized.

Oppose Versions of U. S. Indian Films

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14—(AP)—A couple of Choctaws and a Creek—all three members of the Oklahoma legislature—went on the warpaith yesterday against the motion picture version of the American Indian.

"When modern movie makers tire of hoodlum picture-making for coddling the blood thirsty but unbrave masses who love cheap thrillers," said a resolution offered by the Indians in the legislature, "a change of scene portrays combat between white and Indian. It's a battle if the white man wins, a massacre if the Indian is victorious."

Bill Aimed at Hospital Fires Is Introduced

Purpose to Prevent Great Loss of Life And Property

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14—(AP)—A bill aimed at preventing disastrous hospital fires in Missouri was introduced in the House of Representatives today.

Rep. Fred Ray Columbo (D) of St. Louis introduced the measure. He said he had the support of the State Hospital Association and the Missouri Medical Association.

His purpose, he said, is to prevent the possibility of great loss of life and property in hospital fires like the one in Effingham, Ill., recently.

Under his measure a seven member committee on hospital standards would be established. It would have broad powers to set and enforce safety standards in public and private hospitals. The director of the State Division of Health would be ex officio chairman of the committee.

Governor Would Name Six

The six other members would be appointed by the governor to three-year staggered terms. They would receive no pay but would be allowed their actual expenses. Members would have to include:

Two hospital administrators, two doctors, nurses, welfare or public health officials, one architect and one civic-minded citizen.

The act would take effect one year after passage and signing by the governor.

Three Years To Make Changes

But present hospitals would have three years to make changes necessary to meet the safety standards set up by the committee.

It would not appiy to convalescent, nursing, shelter or boarding homes but only to hospitals where patients are treated on a 24-hour basis.

Hospitals would be required to pay a fee each year to operate. Institutions with less than 100 beds would pay $10 a year and larger hospitals would pay $25 a year.

Britain Asks For Showdown

NEW YORK, Apil 14.—(AP)—Britain challenged Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko today to file a formal complaint in the U. N. against the North Atlantic pact so the general assembly could have a showdown vote on it.

Russia's No. 1 deputy foreign minister injected the 12-power Atlantic treaty into the assembly debate yesterday, calling it an aggressive move aimed at the Soviet Union.

The Soviet delegate, however, did not indicate any plans for trying to place the question formally on the assembly calendar for action.

British Minister of State Hector McNeil, first big western power diplomat to reply to Gromyko's blast, said that if the Russians really want redress they can file a complaint and find a place on the agenda.

But, McNeill added: "I for one do not expect such straightforward procedure."

Independence Has Fire on Square

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 14—(AP)—Flames whipped by high winds destroyed a three-story brick building and for a time threatened other structures on the east side of the town square here tonight.

The fire started on the third floor used as a warehouse by the Savemore Drug Company. I. A. Kaplan, owner of the drug company, said stocks lost were worth $75,000.

Firemen brought the flames under control after nearly an hour. The roof of the adjoining two-story Kresge building was damaged.

Husband Would Not Let Her Mind Alone

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—(AP)—It was mental cruelty with a new twist in divorce court yesterday. The wife of a psychologist said he wouldn't let her mind alone, and was always analyzing her mental processes in front of friends.

Mrs. Brigitte Fitzpatrick obtained the divorce from Dr. William N. Fitzpatrick, who was a medical student when they were married in 1946 and turned to psychology as a hobby.

Burial Rites For Child Victim Marked With Simplicity

CHULA VISTA, Calif., April 14—(AP)—For Kathy Fiscus—"sweet sleep, a clear sky and our father's love."

The minister said they were hers forever.

Then the little girl, whose death in an abandoned well near her San Marino home saddened the world, was committed to her grave.

The burial rites here yesterday followed by a few hours the funeral services at Alhambra. Both were marked with simplicity and were attended by a few hundred mourners, including the family.

Three-year-old Kathy's body was brought up Sunday night from the 14-inch pipe into which she had fallen to a depth of 92 feet Friday. Volunteers worked desperately through 52 hours to reach the little victim.

Donations Pile Up

The San Marino Congregational minister, Rev. Bertrand A. Christ, who had baptized Kathy, read both services.

Meanwhile in Los Angeles, donations, offers of jobs and medical aid piled up today for the rescue workers.

One of the heroes, unemployed O. A. Kelly, has had an offer to work at the Howard Hughes Aircraft plant.

H. E. (Whitey) Blickensderfer has the promise of free surgical care for a hernia operation.

Bill Yancey and Bartram Herpel, who also spent long hours in the rescue shaft, received a contract for a cesspool at Duarte, near here. They admitted their firm hadn't been doing so well, but things are looking up for them.

CVA Measures Introduced

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—Legislation to set up a Columbia Valley administration for development of the great natural resources in the Pacific Northwest was introduced today by Reps. Mitchell and Jackson, both Washington Democrats.

President Truman requested it yesterday in a message to Capitol Hill. Reaction among lawmakers was immediate and sharply divided.

The President praised the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and although he did not say so, it is believed the CVA would be modeled along similar lines, if approved.

Today the President indicated there will be delay in the submission of proposals on the St. Lawrence seaway project and a Missouri Valley administration.

A news conference inquiry as to whether he planned a message calling for a Missouri Valley Authority brought the reply, not at the present time.

Lost Airlift Plane Lands

WIEBADEN, Germany, April 14—(AP)—The U. S. Air Force announced today a C54 airlift plane missing for more than 24 hours has landed near Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. Its crew of three and one passenger were uninjured.

The air force said the plane lost its way on a trip from Celle, in the British zone of Germany, to Berlin, carrying 10 tons of coal. It strayed from its course because of a complete electrical failure shortly after it took off. Minor repairs are needed and the crew will fly back to the U. S. Zone of Germany, the announcement said.

Church Board Upset by Pipe

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14—(AP)—The First Methodist churcl board met to pick a new minister last night.

But seven fire companies go the call instead.

The meeting warmed up quickly after Dr. Leonard C. Williams, a physician, tipped his pipe over.

His pants caught fire.

Other board members rushed to extinguish them, but some sparks apparently caught in the upholstery. Shortly after the meeting broke up without a decision, Fire did nearly $5,000 damage to the warehouse company office where the board held a meeting to discuss church business.

Wallgren's Name To Stay

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—President Truman has no intention of withdrawing Mon C. Wallgren's nomination as chairman of the national resources board, he said today.

The President, asked at a news conference if Wallgren was considering asking him to withdraw the nomination, told reporters they would have to ask the former Washington governor what is on his mind.

As for himself, the President said he had no intention of recalling the appointment.

Propose Cigarette Tax

TRENTON, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Trenton residents may smoke their way to better streets.

The city council has proposed a levy of two cents on each package of cigarettes sold, the revenue to be used for street resurfacing and improvements.

City Attorney Robert Loman was instructed to prepare the tax ordinance and present it to the council next Thursday night.

'No More Policy Than Cat,' Senator Tells Party Members

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—A split among Senate Republicans over whether their party should launch an all-out attack on President Truman's legislative program came to the surface today.

On one side, Senator Malone of Nevada repeated to a reporter what he said he told a closed meeting of many GOP senators yesterday:

"I don't think the Republican party has any more policy than a cat. We're just following the Democrats and have been ever since I've been here. (Malone was elected in 1946.) I'd like to see the Republican party forget 'me too' and stand for something."

On the other side was Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee.

Taft confirmed that he told his colleagues at the meeting that the Republican party will put itself in an "indefensible" position with the voters if it fights enactment of all public welfare legislation.

"If you deny the Republican party's interest in the welfare of the low income people of this nation, there soon won't be any Republican party," he declared.

Taft's Views Applauded

Taft's views were warmly applauded by Senator Tobey (R-NH), one of a group of 14 classed by Senator Morse (R-Ore) as "liberals" who tried earlier in the year to replace the Ohioan as chairman of the policy committee.

"I could support him for president on the platform he laid down," Tobey said after the meeting.

Senator Bricker, Taft's Ohio colleague, had some different ideas about GOP policy.

"I think the Republican party ought to begin to look at the cost of government," Bricker declared "It ought to represent that great segment of the American people who have saved some money, bought some property and are dependent on no one else to support them."

Bricker said he argued to his colleagues that this country can't stand a permanent spending budget of $42,000,000,000 a year.

TULSA, Okla., April 14—(AP)—What price glory? A wrenched shoulder, says Hollywood actor Chill Wills.

Wills, here for a world premiere of the movie "Tulsa" in which he has a supporting role, was mistaken last night for a gate crasher at a special party honoring principals of the film.

"The officer asked where I thought I was going, and I told him I was going to the party by invitation," Wills said, adding:

"One thing led to another and before I knew it I was being escorted out the place on the business end of a professional-like hammer lock."

Bystanders intervened and identified Wills. The policeman offered his apologies and allowed the actor to join the party, but not before Wills was treated by a doctor for the strained shoulder.
